HUGE CROWD MOBS COURT AT HEARING

Hattie Le Blanc Also to Tell the Story of Laundryman's Death at the Will Hearing—Women Fight for Place.

In the presence of a crowd of men and women that jammed Judge McIntire's Probate Court in East Cambridge, the fight to break the will of Clarence F. Glover, who was murdered in his laundry at Waltham about two months ago, was resumed at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Hours before the opening of court the corridors were filled with people eager to get a glimpse of Mrs. Lillian M. Glover, the widow of the dead man, and of Hattie Le Blanc, held for his murder. As much as $5 was offered for permission to enter the courtroom, and there was a wild rush and crush when the doors were opened.

Samuel E. Elmore, the executor of the Glover will, was called to the stand and Lawyer John J. Scott, who appeared for some parties who are fighting the will, questioned him. Scott yesterday charged that Mrs. Glover caused her husband's death in order to come into about $20,000 of his property. The lawyer did not go into details in his sensational charge.

Mrs. Glover Called Next.

Mrs. Glover was to follow Elmore on the stand and her testimony was awaited with intense interest. Hattie Le Blanc follows Mrs. Glover on the stand.

One of the features of the examination of Elmore yesterday was its loss of momentum. Here are some of the questions put to him by Scott and his replies:

Q. What did Mrs. Glover tell you at any time with reference to the tragedy?

A. I won't speak of it.

Q. When did she say the first time?

A. I won't tell you. I won't speak.

Q. Did Mrs. Glover tell you what time the tragedy occurred? A. Yes.

Q. What did she say? A. She told me she was at home and that the police had notified her that Glover had been shot.

"I Can't Recall."

Q. Did she say what time she got home on the night of the tragedy? A. She said she had supper at her own home.

Q. Did she tell you what time Hattie Le Blanc left you? A. I did.

Q. Did she say what time Glover went out? A. I did.

Q. What time was it that Hattie left you? A. I couldn't tell exactly.

Q. Did she say who went out first? A. I did. She did.

Q. Did she say when Hattie came back? A. I did not.

Q. Did she ever tell you at any time

GERMANY RUSHES TO STOP TARIFF WAR

BERLIN, Feb. 3.—A bill which, it is believed, will prevent the threatened tariff war with the United States was passed by the Bundesrath (Federal Council) today and will be introduced into the Reichstag. The bill authorizes that it would pass through the Reichstag in short order. Though drawn in haste, the tariff bill is generally regarded as solving the problem.

DR. J. T. BOTTOMLEY FINED IN AUTO CASE

Dr. John T. Bottomley, of No. 165 Beacon street, was in the Municipal Court today before Judge Bolster, charged with violating the automobile speed regulations and with driving a car without having his authorization certificate with him. The alleged violation of law took place by the Jamaica avenue on January 24. The judge fined Dr. Bottomley $10 on each charge.

HONDURAS MENACED BY WAR AND FAMINE

COLON, Feb. 3.—Disorder in Honduras is spreading rapidly, and the state of siege in Tegucigalpa continues. President Bonilla's deposition by Congress is considered inadmissible. The city of Tegucigalpa is also reported in a state of siege. No one is allowed to leave the city after 6 o'clock curfew.

ARGUMENTS IN COURT-MARTIAL ARE IN TO-DAY

A brilliant throng of handsomely gowned women and uniformed men gathered in the armory at the Charlestown Navy Yard this afternoon when the court-martial proceedings against Paymaster George P. Auld, charged with buying attached to Edward S. Cowles as a navy hop, were resumed.

The testimony in the case is all in and nothing remained but the arguments of counsel. It was expected that Major Leonard's speech in behalf of Auld would be a scathing arraignment of the Cowles, and that perhaps some of the women in the case might be treated rather severely.

Judge Oberlin Carter, counsel for the case for the prosecution. There was hope that the real reason of the row would come out, as some are believed the case was caused. Miss Margaret Jones, said yesterday that she knew the [illegible] person and was going to tell it when she was subpoenaed. It became known today that at the dance at Brewster II Miss Madeline Swift, daughter of Admiral Swift, danced all of the waltzes with Paymaster Auld or sat out them only with him. This was one of the gallant young men was so complacent that it called forth remark.

Engaged at the Time.

At this time Miss Swift was engaged to be married to Mr. Storey of Arlington. On December 15 the young man came on to get married but the ceremony was postponed to enable the bride's son not to attend to carry out the details and the engagement was called off.

This phase of the case was discussed today and people wondered what would be the final matrimonial outcome of the tangle.

That the outcome of the court-martial is being awaited with great interest among officials at Washington is indicated by a request that complete copies of the testimony at the court-martial be forwarded at once to Secretary Meyer. Judge Advocate Swift and Secretary Meyer. It is reported in official circles that neither Judge and Secretary Meyer are for any partial given over discussions made by Mrs. Cowles, wife of the complainant in the case against Auld, of what transpired at Washington when she went there to urge the authorities to order Auld's court-martial.

Meyer Displeased.

Her declaration that Secretary Meyer said he considered the navy dance affair the worst scandal he had ever seen in the navy and thought it should be dropped in order to prevent publicity, has, it is said, been particularly displeasing to the authorities at Washington. Secretary Meyer, it is said, had no anticipation that whatever conversation he had with Mrs. Cowles would be repeated.

Transcripts of the proceedings before the court-martial were forwarded today to Senator Lodge and Secretary Meyer. The findings of the court-martial will follow, it is expected, tonight or tomorrow morning. This afternoon the officers of the court-martial held their closing arguments by Major Leonard, counsel for Auld, and by Judge-Advocate Catlin.

Auld and court-martial of Surgeon R. A. Robnett will open at the navy yard tomorrow morning by agreement of Major Leonard, who will represent Robnett, and the Judge-Advocate. The delay is granted in order that each side may have time to prepare its case.

CUMMINGS GETS 5 TO 8 YEARS FOR NOTE FORGERIES

Charles S. Cummings, the Boston note broker, was today found guilty by a jury of the larceny of $15,000 from the Washington institution for Savings of Lowell. He was also found guilty of uttering a forged note on the town of Framingham for $15,000. This was the same note. It was dated October 29, 1908.

The convicted broker was immediately sentenced to from five to eight years in State Prison. The first two days will be in solitary confinement.

The trial of this famous case occupied three days before Judge Daniel Bond in the Superior Criminal Court of Middlesex County in East Cambridge. The jury was given the case yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock and found its verdict in two and three-quarters hours. At that time Judge Bond had left the courthouse and the verdict was returned sealed.

The verdict, which was reached last night and sealed, was opened in the East Cambridge court before Judge Bond. The foreman of the jury was Leonard B. Chandler, former Mayor of the city of Somerville.

Since the investigation was begun and Cummings indicted he has been out on $10,000 bail.

Accused of $15,000 Theft.

Two counts were found in the first indictment by the Grand Jury. The first charged Cummings with stealing $15,000 from the town of Framingham. The second charged him with stealing $15,000 from the Washington Institution for Savings of Lowell. During the trial of the case the first count of the indictment was dropped.

The principal witness in the trial was John H. Lombard, the alleged crown prosecutor of the town of Framingham, who had served in that capacity for twenty years. He confessed to forging the names of Town Selectmen William Walsh and Frank P. Stockdale to the note for $15,000. He said that Cummings was present with him when he did so.

District Attorney Higgins made a formal motion that Cummings's bail be increased from the present amount of $20,000. The motion was opposed by Attorney Lawrence, who argued that with the $20,000 bonds which Cummings was now under in Middlesex and the $15,000 in Suffolk, a total of $35,000, was quite sufficient. Judge Bond took the motion under advisement, and in the meantime sent for the sureties.

In breaking the jury, Judge Bond remarked that he felt discouraged on account of the apparent increase in crime. He said that he had noticed the increase while sitting on the bench and attributed it to the fact that too little attention was given to youths approaching manhood.

In arguing for Cummings, H. C. Long, his counsel, tried to show that Cummings was guiltless and that the blame for the illegal transaction rested wholly with John H. Lombard, saying that he had been false to his ancestry, false to his trust, false to his friends and false to Cummings, who had stood by him gnancially.

Certain Notes Destroyed.

"It is ridiculous," Mr. Long argued, "for Lombard, a man of affairs, who had held the town treasurership for twenty years, to try to have it understood that he had been hypnotized by a dejarden bookkeeper. Lombard should have been tried before Cummings, and then Cummings could have shown that it was he, and not Lombard, who was duped."

Assistant District Attorney Wier, in closing for the Government, asked the jury not to neglect the fact that certain notes, admitted to have been forged, were destroyed by counsel for Cummings. He also asked that particular attention be given the sworn testimony of Treasurer Murphy of the Washington Institution for Savings of Lowell, contradicting Cummings's statement that he had tried to negotiate a second loan and that Mr. Murphy had refused it for the reason that all of the institution's funds were already invested.

BACK BAY PLEADS FOR NEW SUBWAY

Denouncing as indecent and immoral the rush hour conditions in trolley cars bound westerly out of the Park street subway, residents of the fashionable Bay State road section appeared in force today before the Boston Transit Commission to urge that work be started at once on the Riverbank subway. An enabling act was passed by the Legislature of 1907. Then came the panic. The Elevated was given until one year from the completion of the Washington street tunnel. The year was up last December. The "L" may still appeal to the Railroad Commission from a transit board order to dig.

The Bay State roaders who spoke before the transit board today included George R. Lyman, attorney; William Allen Hayes, attorney; Francis J. Moors, banker; Judge Robert Grant, the novelist; Everett W. Burdett, Mr. Wardwell's partner, and Oliver Crocker Stevens.

No public notice had been given of the hearing, and as many common folk in Brighton, Brookline, Newton and Watertown as Mr. Upham could reach yesterday by telephone came in and heard the big lawyers who live in Bay State road and thereabouts make new fight for them free of charge. The complaint of the Bay State road is that the cars are always jammed when it comes to use them.

Route of Proposed Subway.

The proposed subway would travel part of its more than a mile side by side with the Cambridge subway. From Park street it would tunnel under Beacon Hill, thence under Chestnut street to the Riverbank, travel along under Beacon street and beyond Harvard Bridge, and finally come to the surface just beyond the T. W. Lawson house and below the junction of Beacon street, Brookline avenue and Commonwealth avenue.

"The order to dig ought to come at once," Mr. Upham urged for 200 property owners on Bay State road. "Street cars are that way are now crowded beyond what is right and proper for the good of the morals of this community, and we all know it. It is almost a scandal, gentlemen, and everybody knows it. The great territory lying out west of Boston needs these improved facilities.

"It will take time to make plans, and time will be required for construction. At the best it will be three or four years after you give the order before the subway can be realized. That order ought not to be further delayed. If you want to hear from more people than this gathering which will be your room today, give us a day of another meeting and I will fill Faneuil Hall for you."

Mr. Upham was the first secretary of the original Transit Board.

University Club Pleads.

Moorfield Storey urged the tunnel for the 700 members of the University Club, of which he is the president. Desmond Fitzgerald told the Transit Board of his custom of walking in four miles from his home in Brookline. Mr. Fitzgerald cannot stand the overcrowded cars, he said. The cars sometimes beat him by twelve minutes.

"The cars are intolerably crowded," said William Allen Hayes, "and frequently are thirty-five minutes coming in from Bay State road. Conditions are such that I do not like to have my members of my family on the street cars in the rush hours."

Robert Grant said the people are jammed into the street cars in the morning and at night until the conditions suggest cattle cars.

"They are crowded to such an indecent extent," said Everett Burdett, "that I refuse to send my wife in them. The air I can't be bad, too. I prefer to walk."

Officer Crocker Stevens said that practically conditions make him sing for the old days when the Back Bay had "its own little green car, down Marlboro street, with a conductor who knew every one of us and who was in the habit of tapping us on the shoulder to tell us when it was time to get off."

Somebody (Judge Grant is suspected) interposed quickly to say: "That was after 11 o'clock, Stevens."

Francis W. Kittredge of No. 532 Beacon street, also an attorney, was the only opponent of the subway. He, however, admitted that conditions on the cars in the rush hours are shocking. He protested, however, that according to the present plan the subway comes up back of his house, and will damage his view and his property.

"Of course," he said, "I should not object if it came up back of some other fellow's house."

Joseph B. Warner asked to be heard later on behalf of residents in Beacon street who fear that the subway may raise and with sanitary conditions in its possible effect on sewage, etc.

Mrs. Glover Leaving Court Hides Face Behind Muff

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 3.—Miss Marie Lewson of Portland, Me., a member of the third-year class of the School of Dentistry of the University of Maryland, was shot and instantly killed this afternoon by Elijah Baba Badel, a Persian Mohammedan, a student of medicine in the same school, who then committed suicide by firing a bullet into his own breast. The double tragedy was the result of love unrequited because of religious beliefs.

FUNERAL OF FIRE CAPTAIN GARGAN

The funeral of Captain Joseph M. Gargan of Engine Company No. 29, Chestnut Hill avenue, Brighton, who died suddenly at the fire station on Harvard avenue, Allston, on Monday, was held today from the residence of his sister, No. 3176 Longwood avenue, Roxbury.

A high mass of requiem was sung by the Rev. Peter J. Cure, C. S. S. R., at the Mission Church at 9:30 a. m. Present at the mass were Chief Mullen of the Fire Department, Commissioner Turner, former District Chief Kyes, of East Boston; Deputy Superintendent Keane of the Police Department and Captain James F. Sullivan of Station 14. Burial was at Holy Cross Cemetery, Brookline.

HEARING OF WOMAN DOCTOR GOES OVER

Dr. Alice L. Root, forty-three years of age, of No. 626 Columbus avenue, was today arraigned in the Municipal Criminal Court before Judge Michael J. Murray, charged with illegally treating Miss Edith L. Sleeper, of No. 76 Franklin street, Stoneham. The treatment is said to have been administered at the doctor's office on January 14. At the request of the police the case was continued until February 17. Bail in $3,000, which the doctor was unable to furnish, was required. She has been in jail since her arrest.

GOVERNOR DRAPER SIGNS A PARDON

Nicholas Vendola was pardoned by Governor Draper today from Charlestown State Prison, where his sentence had nearly five more years to run. He was sentenced for a term of from nine to fourteen years in December, 1905, for illstreatment of a girl who testified at the time that she was under sixteen. It has since been found, through the girl's school teacher, that she was over sixteen at the time.

FLEETS RUSH TO GREECE

ATHENS, Feb. 3.—A Turkish fleet is steaming at full speed toward Crete. The crisis between the Porte and Greece is perilously near the breaking point. Two Turkish army corps are in readiness to be moved into the plain of Larissa at a moment's notice.

The British battleship Duncan, flagship of Rear Admiral Sir George Astley Culme-Seymour, in command of the British Mediterranean fleet, with the cruisers Lancaster, Minerva and Barham and four torpedo boat destroyers, have left Malta for Piraeus, the port of Athens.

Covertly or openly, every foreign office in Europe is taking a hand in the fight of Turkey to retain her hold on Crete, and the sending of certain delegates to the Greek Assembly is instrumental to a declaration of war from the Turkish view point. Such a war would immediately involve the Continent and Great Britain.

The occupation of the armed protectorate over Crete by the powers is today declared to be imminent. The withdrawal of the troops which maintained peace in the island was made with great haste, apparently are flaunted by the Cretan leaders against Turkish rule.

England, it is believed, would be among the first to take a step for the preservation of peace. It is stated that St. Petersburg is seriously alarmed over the latest developments in Greece. The understanding reached by the Czar and King Victor emanuel of Italy on the recent visit of Nicholas to Italy are likely to play a prime part in the forthcoming events.

That visit was regarded as the forerunner of the disintegration of the Triple Alliance. Bulgaria alone can benefit materially from the present status and that which is threatened, according to prominent diplomats.

The attitude of Austria, whose curbing in the Balkans was the reputed object of the Nicholas-Victor Emmanuel conference, may hold the key to the situation in the end. The Kaiser will stand firmly by Austria, and if that ally should contend for upholding the alliance.

A dispatch from Constantinople says Hakki Bey, Grand Vizier, today called a special meeting of the Turkish Cabinet to consider the Cretan situation. The decision reached was that the firmly opposing the present attitude of the Porte and preserving at all costs Turkish dominance in Crete.

RAIN OR SNOW DUE TO-NIGHT

It's going to be wet tonight. It may be snow, or maybe it may be rain, but the weather man says the chances are that it is going to rain. The prediction is: Rain or snow tonight; Friday clearing and cold; light variable winds, west and becoming northwest and increasing.

Snow in northern New England, but according to the same authority there is little chance that it will travel down here, for northerly winds will take it in a different direction. There is rain in the Ohio Valley and down as far as Georgia. The rain can come up on the wind. Either way, rubbers and umbrella will be helpful.

BURGLARS FLEE OWN EXPLOSION

EXBRIDGE, Feb. 3.—Burglars, who early today blew open the safe in the Uxbridge postoffice, used so much nitroglycerin that the strong steel box was completely shattered. The charge was so heavy and the noise so great that the burglars were forced to flee without getting any parts of the big safe were blown through the windows of the general store of D. E. Chase, in which the postoffice is located. The postoffice is part of their loots from the Blanchard blacksmith shop.

FISH FAMINE BROKEN TODAY

The fish famine was partly relieved today by the arrival at T wharf of over a score of fishing vessels. They brought in over 150,000 pounds of fish, but even this fare was inadequate to meet the demand.

Prices still remain at a topnotch figure, cod and haddock selling today from $6 to $7 a barrel. This is three times the price at which cod and haddock sold for three weeks ago.

The fishermen say but weather is responsible for the shortage.

Every schooner which docked today reported very rough weather on the banks. Sailors have been forced to risk their lives every day in heavy seas in order to secure the small amount of fish that is coming to port.

EARLY TRIAL FOR JOHNSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—By the order of Justice Goff, the case of assault in the second degree against Jack Johnson, the negro prize fighter, was transferred today from the court of general sessions to the criminal branch of the Supreme Court. It will be tried within two weeks. Johnson is now at liberty under $1,500 bail and will be notified when he is wanted. Johnson was indicted for assault following a row in a West Thirty-fifth street saloon a short time ago. It is charged that Johnson knocked down a negro named Pinder, half his size, and then beat him with a chair.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

American Beef Cheaper In England Than Here.

LONDON.—Butchers in the West End here do a large business in American beef. But they sell it as "prime Scotch," and at four cents a pound more than the best English. The American beef so sold is slaughtered at Liverpool, and is known as "Liverpool-killed." One of the best-known West End firms has given the prices charged for American "prime Scotch" beef, admitting that the beef sells at a considerably lower figure than in the United States. His prices are: Sirloin, 24 cents a pound; shoulder or middle rib, 18 cents a pound; flanks or neck, 11 or 12 cents a pound. Many grades of American beef are known in London as "ranch" beef. The cheapest ranges in price from 9 cents a pound for sirloin to five cents a pound for flanks.

More Changes in "Chantecler."

PARIS.—"Chantecler" has been lately a synonym of bad luck here, but as much as Halley's comet. The announcement of its first performance coincided with the floods, which caused its postponement. The second date for the production brought rain and a snow storm. Every one is making wild guesses as to the reasons for so many delays. So far nothing has been jealously kept. The real truth was learned last evening from a most reliable source. It is that at a private rehearsal Rostand, the author, suddenly decided to change the whole third act and withdrew the play from the Porte St. Martin Theatre.

Doyle and Barrie Swindled.

LONDON.—An extraordinary story of how Sir A. Conan Doyle, J. M. Barrie, E. W. Hornung, and other popular playwrights were defrauded of large amounts due them as royalties was related before Justice Warrington in an action involving the estate of the late Addison Bright, a dramatic author's agent, who acted for the playwrights named. An investigation resulted in the discovery that Bright had fraudulently retained £140,000 belonging to them. Of this sum $80,000 was due to Barrie, $40,000 to Doyle, and the rest to Hornung, all of which has since been paid by Bright's executors.

To Guard Louise's Wealth.

BRUSSELS.—The Gazette states that Duke Ernst-Gunther of Schleswig-Holstein, who married the Princess Dorothea, daughter of the Princess Louise of Belgium and Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, is about to petition for a judicial council to administer the affairs of his mother-in-law. The Princess Louise, it is stated, will oppose the action vigorously, and the proceedings for a trusteeship of her property are likely to meet with difficulties.

Had 250,000 Pairs of Wings.

HONOLULU.—Twenty-three Japanese arrested on Laysan and Lisianksy islands for violation of the United States laws against killing birds of plumage were brought here by the revenue cutter Thetis for trial. The Thetis had 250,000 pairs of wings seized by her commander, Captain William Jacobs. These will be used as evidence against the Japanese, who have been slaughtering birds for millinery firms for several months.

D. B. RUSSELL BACK IN COURT AFTER ILLNESS

Daniel Blake Russell, claimant of half of the fortune of $500,000 left by the late State Senator Daniel Russell of Melrose, appeared in the East Cambridge Probate Court to-day, after being absent yesterday on account of illness. He was confined to his rooms at the Hotel Commonwealth Friday is the seventy-seventh actual trial day of the case, and the claimant is showing the effects of the long strain and the close confinement of the court room.

The first witness to-day was Charles French, a handwriting expert. He testified to-day that in his opinion there were no evidences of the erasure of "plumbago remains" on any of the Russan envelopes. This is contradictory to the evidence offered by Dr. Bennet Davenport, who testified yesterday, also for William C. Russell, brother, who is fighting the North Dakota gentleman's claim on the ground that he is an impostor.

Dr. Davenport testified that he thought there were appearances of erasures on the exhibits of the envelopes of the Russan letters.

Daniel Blake Russell, it was announced to-day, will again take the stand to refute certain testimony given since he finished his testimony two months ago. The court has ruled that each side may continue putting on his witnesses as long as there is new testimony to be offered by either side. The respondents, however, have thirty more witnesses to put on the stand, including persons from Melrose and New York State.

The chief interest in these centre about William C. Russell of Melrose, who is fighting the claim of the Western man, who claims to be his brother.

It became evident to-day that the evidence will not be finished for two or three months at least, making it one of the longest-drawn-out hearings ever held in Massachusetts.

$32,400 COLLECTED FOR PARIS RELIEF

Governor Draper presided at the meeting of the Paris Relief Committee at the State House to-day. It was announced that the collections up to the present time amounted to $32,400. It was voted to cable to Ambassador Bacon and ask him to cable back to the committee the news of the actual condition and needs of the sufferers. Among those present at the meeting were Committeemen T. E. Byrnes, J. Frank Hayes, John G. Weight, Bernard J. Rothwell, Edmond Billings, Henry L. Higginson and Thomas B. Fitzpatrick.

BARRING GOV. DRAPER AT GENERAL'S FUNERAL CAUSES A SENSATION

MILFORD, Feb. 3.—Additional comment was made to-day on the fact that neither Governor Eben S. Draper nor his brother, George A. Draper, was permitted to attend the funeral of their brother, General William F. Draper, held here yesterday. It is said that the widow of the general has requested that neither of the brothers be invited to attend the public memorial service to be held here next Sunday.

The feud in the Draper family that has been carried to the grave of one of its leading members is the talk of this town. The trouble grew, it is understood here, out of a quarrel between Mrs. William F. Draper and Mrs. George A. Draper, who are sisters and are members of the old Preston family of Lexington, Ky.

The nature of the difference between the two sisters has been kept quiet. Business affairs and political ambitions of the brothers are said to have helped widen the breach. It is also asserted that death would heal the wounds, or at least cover them over long enough to allow the family to mingle at the house where General Draper's body lay in state and at the cemetery where it was buried.

Requested Not to Attend.

The local newspaper men here were told on Tuesday that they might expect to see something of interest if they would attend the funeral the next day.

"Letters have been written to Governor Draper and to George A. Draper, requesting them not to attend the funeral of their brother," the newspaper men were told.

In order that this mandate should be carried out, Chief of Police Fairbanks was asked to go to the house, remain at the front door and see that neither of the objectionable brothers was admitted. Fairbanks was there and he declared that he was glad that neither of the brothers appeared as it would have been disagreeable for him to have to bar them from the house.

"I was ordered," said Chief of Police Fairbanks to an AMERICAN reporter, "by a member of the William F. Draper family, not to permit either the Governor or his brother George to enter the house.

"Glad They Didn't Show Up."

"I was mighty glad that they did not show up, because it would have been very distasteful to have told them that they could not enter. But I would have done it, as I was working there as a policeman."

Chief Fairbanks was at the front door while the body was lying in state and a stream of men, women and children, numbering probably 3,000, who had known General Draper in life, passed the portal for a last look at the features of one of the famous Draper brothers, builders of the town of Hopedale, mill magnates, millionaires and leaders in the affairs of State and nation. Some of those who walked past the bier were rich men, some were laborers.

At the church, where simple services were held, the members of the Draper family who were present were gathered by the bomb. Hundreds of spectators around the group vainly for a glimpse of the face of the Governor of Massachusetts or that of his brother, George A. Draper. They were not there. Taps and the reveille were sounded, the rifles of the men of Company M sent a thunderous roller over the town, and then the throng dispersed.

There are rumors that letters have passed between the widow and her sister which have a bearing on the present situation.

A Business Disagreement?

Before General Draper's body was taken from his home to the cemetery, and while a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter was talking in the house with O. A. Lane, also a private secretary to William F. Draper, a young man came into the room and said to Lane:

"Your uncle don't want them to come into the house. They can't come in."

The BOSTON AMERICAN reporter asked Mr. Lane:

"Has the Governor arrived to view his brother's body?"

"Who, me?" replied Secretary Lane. "He would not be allowed in the house if he came. Neither would George A."

"Why?" the reporter asked.

"Because of that trouble. You know about that, don't you?"

From gossip in Hopedale it is supposed the secretary referred to Lane to the disagreement between the Draper brothers which took place several years ago.

"Will the Governor and his brother be permitted to attend the services in the cemetery?" the secretary was asked.

"That's up to them," replied Mr. Lane. "But they can't enter the house.

"Would not death end such a quarrel as this?" the reporter asked the secretary.

"No," was his reply, "not even death could end such a quarrel as this."

Married Preston Sisters.

A member of the public committee which has charge of the memorial service to be held in the Town Hall here next Sunday said:

"These services are going to be public and no one will be barred. We know nothing as to letters having been written to the committee, asking that we bar Governor Draper and his brother George from the hall. This is not an invitation affair, and anyone may attend who likes.

Mrs. William F. Draper and Mrs. George A. Draper are daughters of General William Preston, a noted confederate cavalry leader. Both sisters were married. Miss Susan Preston in 1880. It was his second marriage. George A. Draper acted as best man for the groom, and Miss Jessie Preston was maid of honor for her sister. In less than a year after the General's wedding Jessie died, but married the General's wife's sister.

George A. Draper succeeded his brother, William F., as a member of the legislature, which the General had conducted for about thirty years, about three years ago.

JUDGE CENSURES DRUNKEN FATHER

Judge Bragg said to-day that he ought to punish George T. Miles of No. 87 Decatur street, Charlestown, charged with drunkenness, but Mrs. Miles pleaded so urgently against this course that the Court continued the case until February 7. The Judge said to his wife: "Your husband does nothing but get drunk and beat you and your half-dozen children in the form of a brute. He has been doing that on and off for twenty years, according to his record. I shall fine him if my duty to allow you and your children to suffer the longer. He is now on probation, but it has done no good." "I don't my husband's support," said Mrs. Miles.

MRS. GLOVER WITNESS IN WILL FIGHT

HATTIE LE BLANC WILL ALSO BE WITNESS IN SENSATIONAL WILL CONTEST.

that Hattie was in the house? A—She did not.

Q—What did she ever tell you with reference to Hattie's being in the house after the tragedy? A—I don't recall.

Q—Didn't she tell you as to what she knew of Hattie's whereabouts during these three days? A—She did not.

Q—Do you think that anybody had suspicion that Mrs. Glover knew where Hattie was? A—That is not a question for me to answer.

Q—Did you ask her if she knew where Hattie was? A—I don't remember.

Q—You knew the police were dragging the river? A—Yes.

Asked About Revolver.

Q—What made you believe the police were dragging for Hattie's body? A—Perhaps it was an unwarranted assumption.

Q—You didn't ask her about Hattie's whereabouts, did you? A—No.

Q—You were there to protect Mrs. Glover's interests? A—Yes.

Q—Is it not a fact that neighbors went up to Mrs. Glover's home to ask her about the death of her husband? A—Your question is too involved. I presume many did call upon her.

Q—Did she ever say anything to you about a revolver? A—When? At what time and where?

Q—Did she tell you anything about a revolver? A—Yes, she spoke about three days.

Q—You discussed the question of fire arms with her since the tragedy? A—Yes.

Q—And you talked with her about a revolver? A—Yes, about several revolvers.

Q—Did she tell you she had seen a revolver in her home? A—Yes.

Q—Did she say how you owned a revolver? A—I don't think she did.

Q—Did you know she owned one? A—No.

Q—Did she tell you that she did own a revolver? A—I think she did not.

Saw Hattie In House.

Q—Did she ever say she engaged in target practice? A—I don't know.

Q—Did she ever say that she saw the revolver now in the custody of the police? A—I don't know what revolver the police have.

Q—Did she ever say she saw the revolver used in the tragedy? A—No.

Q—Some revolvers were turned over to you? A—Yes.

Q—Who gave them to you? A—I took them myself.

Q—As executor named in the Glover will or by request of Mrs. Glover? A—Of my own volition.

Q—Did you ever see Hattie Le Blanc after the tragedy? A—I did after she came out from under the bed when the house was searched.

Q—What room was she in when she came from under the bed? A—In the guest chamber on the second floor of the building, which is the front floor of the Glover apartments.

Q—Was that chamber used by Hattie Le Blanc? A—I don't know.

Q—When were you first informed that she was in that room? A—I wasn't informed until she came out.

HOTEL GUESTS FLEE FLAMES

GREAT BARRINGTON, Feb. 3.—Thirty-five scantily clad guests of the Hotel Miller fled hurriedly to the street early today when a fire was discovered in a clothing store located under the hotel annex, owned by Harry Golden, whose stock, valued at $9,000, was destroyed.

The clothing store of T. & Kearin, adjoining, suffered a loss of $3,000, mainly by smoke and water. The office of the Berkshire Courier was flooded. The Hotel Miller escaped injury.

The total loss is about $15,000. The cause is not known.

TAKE TURNS AT SENATORSHIP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—The junior senatorship of North Dakota, which was held by Fountain L. Thompson for a period of nearly two months, and which has been in possession of William L. Purcell for a period of nearly two days, gives promise of becoming as much a matter of interrogation as the case of "Button, button, who's got the button?"

According to a report that has reached Washington Senator Purcell, who was sworn in Tuesday as a member of the Senate, will render his resignation at the expiration of thirty days, and his successor will be named by Governor Burke. This report has it that Governor Burke has decided to make himself "solid" with leading Democrats in the State by passing around the senatorship every thirty days.

PORTLAND MERCHANT AMONG MISSING

PORTLAND, Me., Feb. 3.—Charles R. Bean, aged forty-three years, a leading merchant of this city, has unaccountably disappeared. Mr. Bean left his place of business, saying that he was going to South Portland to collect a bill, and no trace of him has been found since. He was a man of the best of habits and in good health. So far as can be learned he had only a very small sum of money with him. Mr. Bean had served in the city council and was a prominent member of the board of trade. His family consists of a wife and son, nineteen years of age.

JUDGE BALKS AT EXTRA FARE

BLACKSTONE, Feb. 3.—Deciaring that one nickel fare in one town is enough, Judge F. N. Thayer of Worcester is waiting for the Blackstone Valley Street Railway Company to proceed against him legally for the other nickel which the conductor tried to collect but did not succeed.

Judge Thayer was riding from Worcester to this town. The company requires that through passengers pay two fares for the Northbridge part of the run. When the car reached Rockdale Judge Thayer alighted. When the car started he hopped aboard again, just as though he was a regular Rockdale passenger.

When the conductor picked up fares Judge Thayer gave him a nickel.

"You came through from Worcester, didn't you?" blated the conductor.

"Well," said his Honor, "I came through from Worcester, but I got off at Rockdale. I will not pay ten cents."

When the conductor demanded his name the passenger promptly replied.

"Judge F. N. Thayer." Now it is up to the company to sue.

MENU BILL UP TO SMYTHE?

It may be up to Superintendent of Printing James H. Smythe to settle for the $837 bill for menus for the last Common Council dinner, which City Auditor Mitchell has refused to pay. The committee of the Common Council which arranged the dinner planned the elaborate menus as a memento of the last Common Council, and in furtherance of their plans they saw Superintendent Smythe. The latter official told the committee that the city's plant was not prepared to furnish such delicate work, and, according to the members of the committee, it was through him that an order for the work was given to the Samuel Ward Company. When the bill was rendered it was sent to Superintendent Smythe, who, after approving it, turned it over to the City Auditor for payment. City Auditor Mitchell has refused to honor the voucher upon the ground that whoever incurred the bill had no authority to do so.

ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN OR GAS ON STOMACH

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and indigestion? A sour, distended stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good cut, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most distressing case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out-of-order and uncomfortable now you can get relief in five minutes.

COWARDLY ATTACK BY LAWYER ELMORE ON INOFFENSIVE MAN

Samuel D. Elmore, the lawyer in the which had caused a most remarkable loss Glover case, has shown another and the fine side of his character. Late yesterday afternoon he made an unprovoked and cowardly assault on a man half his size in Adams square, stealing up behind his unsuspecting victim and assaulting him.

The man attacked by Elmore is a newspaper photographer. He is not more than five feet tall, and weighs about 120 pounds. Elmore is forty pounds heavier in weight and is physically powerful.

Elmore, with his new notorious client, Mrs. Glover, accompanied by Mrs. Seymour Glover and several lawyers, got off an East Cambridge car at Adams square. A party of newspaper reporters and photographers left the car at the same time. One of the photographers started to run ahead to make a picture of Mrs. Glover's party when Elmore, who had anticipated that such a move and had stopped behind, ran after him.

Before the photographer hardly more than a few could realize he got a terrible blow under the ear which made him spin twice around and off he walk into the gutter.

Elmore accompanied the blow by a foul epithet. He acted like a wild man. He was upset by the terrific grilling he had been subjected to in the will case during the day and nettled by the embarrassing questions of his of memory on his part, he seemed unusually violent.

Before he could follow up his advantage and use his uplifted fist on the young photographer, who was picking himself and his camera up, several reporters and other photographers surrounded Elmore and made further attack impossible.

"I'll show these damned nobodies not to loather a gentleman," he said puffing in impotent rage.

A warrant will be asked for Elmore's arrest and a suit for damages will be instituted against him for brutal assault.

FIREMEN RUN OVER RED HOT STAIRWAY

In order to reach a blaze in the basement of the Neyhus Building, a six story stone structure, at No. 78 Chauncey street early today, firemen were forced to descend a flight of red hot iron stairs. The heat was so intense that it melted their rubber boots.

Jordan Marsh Company

COMBINE TO DROP EXPRESS RATES WAR

Lower express rates on all local shipments on the New Haven lines are promised by March 1 as the result of the formal absorption of the New York & Boston Despatch Express Company and the Earle & Frew Express by the Adams Express Company. Both companies really have been owned by the Adams Express for twenty years, but have been operating as independent companies within the limits.

The New York & Boston Despatch Express will continue to do the express business between Boston and New York, but gives up all its offices in Boston and stations. The Adams Express Company says that this will reduce charges, but it will allow the one company to handle the business direct.

C. H. Heiner, superintendent of the Adams Express Company, says: "Heretofore shipments originally made at the offices of Earle & Frew on the Boston Dispatch destined to offices of the Adams Express also carried express charges; the consolidation will remove the extra charge and therefore benefit the shipper. The New York & Boston Dispatch will continue in business to accommodate the large business between Boston and New York."

THATCHER MAY BE CANAL GOVERNOR

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 3.—A report received today from Washington says that H. M. Thatcher is to be appointed governor of the Panama canal, succeeding Colonel Blackburn, and will become Governor of the Canal Zone as well. The canal governorship salary is $15,000.

$1,300,000 SOUTHBRIDGE CASH READY

SOUTHBRIDGE, Feb. 3. The Southbridge National Bank is ready today to pay over $1,300,000 cash to holders of pass books on the Southbridge Savings Bank, if they much money is called for.

The National Bank has announced that it would loan 50 per cent of the face value of the passbooks of the Savings Bank to persons known to be owners of the pass books.

As there are 82 millions of deposits on the books of the Savings Bank, this means that the National must be ready to honor bills to the extent of $1,300,000. This is not expected, however, because the announcement that the National would loan 50 per cent of the savings deposits has already had a tendency to restore confidence to the depositors. Some depositors are taking advantage of the offer, however, to get ready cash.

It was not generally known through the town till today that the National Bank was doing this. When President Paige of the Savings Bank was asked today why he had not announced this plan, he replied that he thought every one knew about it.

Some of the savings bank trustees today admitted that the shortage caused by Bailey's thefts will reach almost half a million dollars. None of the trustees will be quoted however. Bank Commissioner Charles Bell left them to keep guard at Hull, it is said, has failed to be of any great assistance in the matter of helping in clearing the tangle of accounts. It is said he has failed to devise a satisfactory method of dodging questions. The savings bank is open today, and it is expected there will be a rush of depositors to present their pass books for verification.

PRETTY STORE GIRL IN FEAR OF KIDNAPERS

Threatened with being kidnaped, Miss Molly Kelly, a demure, attractive little seventeen-year-old Roxbury girl, sells lace goods today at Woolworth's store in Roxbury, while two policemen stand guard outside, watching her customers. The postal authorities are aiding the city police in the search for the would-be abductors of the girl.

For two weeks, Miss Kelly has received letters supposed to come from a camp of gypsies at East Walpole. Several times a woman who says she is "queen of the camp" has visited Miss Kelly and asked her to join them.

Until last night she treated the matter as a joke. But, after being followed home from the store by two men who tried to approach her several times but were frightened away, she notified the police and gave to the postal authorities the threatening letters she had received.

The woman who visited Miss Kelly seemed to be of Indian or Oriental blood. Shortly after her first visit, the pretty young clerk began to receive the threatening letters. They were addressed to "The Girl at the Lace Counter" and signed by "The Ladies who Have You the Sweet Eyes." They threatened to abduct her and hold her for ransom, and ordered her to go to the camp at once. Whipple.

These remaining here to be in the shaft in almost inaccessible positions. The total death list is 100, and the property loss $500,000. Of the 100 trapped in the mine only one got out alive. He died within a short time, but not until he had given his story.

EX-LORD MAYOR'S WIFE DEPORTED

ST. JOHN, N. B., Feb. 3. Without a friend to help her, the wife of former Lord Mayor Ryland of London was deported today because she did not have the meagre funds necessary to her entrance as an immigrant.

GIRL WHO IS MADE HEIRESS TO A RICH GERMAN ESTATE

ELSIE FOSTER.

Miss Elsie Foster, a charming girl whose home is in Bridgeville, this State, will not have to toil as a stenographer any longer unless she chooses, for she has just fallen heir to $71,000, all in her own right.

This fortune, at the rate of $1,200 a year, is to be dropped into her pocket and she has just received notice that the first installment has been placed to her credit in a bank in Germany. Next month the young woman is to leave Boston en route to Germany and arrange for the disposition of the estate.

Just about one year ago Miss Foster's uncle, Major W. Heyer of the German army, died in the fatherland. It has just developed that he left the entire estate, comprising his niece, $71,000 of his earnings, and his nephew, Otto H. Foster, the girl's brother, $71,000 more. The young man is a sailor on the United States Scout Cruiser Birmingham, now at Norfolk, Va.

The heiress is still at her typewriter and desk at the office of the Wheeler Lace Goods Company, No. 170 Summer street, Boston, today. The twenty-one-old girl, working away just as hard as though she had to do so.

STRENGTHEN WEAK PARIS BUILDINGS

PARIS, Feb. 3. The authorities today turned their attention to strengthening the foundations of Paris, which, owing to on every side by the flood, still continue a grave menace to the entire city, although the river continues to fall. The sewers, conduits and subways which were turned into a network of streams by the Seine are no less threatening, now that the river is falling, than they were at the height of the inundation. Hour after hour walls and iron pillars have been torn asunder. Not only those temporary buildings here, but in the cellars and subways, the clogged and broken sewers there lurks the spectre of pestilence.

SMUGGLE IN 'SQUEALERS' IN MEAT INQUIRY

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The "squealers" were smuggled into the Federal building today ready to be taken before the grand jury to reveal many secrets of the Beef Trust. The men of the former employes of the trust, now willing to tell all they know as a result of being worked out by Federal Attorney Sims and his special assistant, James H. Wilkerson.

Both Sims and Wilkerson, sending witnesses from the grinking rooms. This was done to prevent the union packing public. It was also done to prevent the packers from finding out just what was really being done. Mr. Sims accomplished this, while a very able battle was waged between the packers and the Federal officials.

The government men managed to keep secret the identity of the "squealers," who may be called before the Grand Jury early this or almost a week.

No indictment were those men to testify that it was necessary to take every precaution for fear that the packers' lawyers, Judge Landis threatened contempt of court against any one who revealed the facts.

Among those who left New York Boston, Baltimore, Detroit and Cincinnati, it is said, will be summoned to testify before the grand jury. Each of them is the different companies on similar charges.

Employers recently have allowed town and Packing Company as a corporation holding, the books of the Nelson Morris Company, Armour & Company, Swift & Company, and Schwartzchild & Sulzberger & Son Company. Swift & Company says they will investigate the question from the National Packing Company, organized for evading profits, or does it set the price for selling, and other questions. Mr. Sims and Mr. Wilkerson, it represented on its Board of Directors?"

Recognize it is expected, will testify that they are not to be allowed to keep Grove of and one or two of breakfast because they could not be bought of Armour, Swift, Morris or Cudahy.

ADVERTISE YOUR WANTS IN THE BOSTON AMERICAN. Small Cost—Quick Returns.

STATEHOOD IS NEAR FOR BOTH ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—One of the national causes in which the AMERICAN has consecrated itself with considerable zeal is that of separate statehood for Arizona and New Mexico.

Several years ago the late lamented David A. DeArmond, of Missouri standing, at Phoenix declared that when these splendid territories were born into the full sisterhood of sovereign States they would be indebted more than to any other men and any other force to the consistent and unanswerable advocacy of William Randolph Hearst and his chain of newspapers.

Arizona and New Mexico now front at last the definite and well-won boon of separate statehood.

Two weeks ago the Houses of Representatives passed, as it has passed before, the bill for full and separate admission. This bill heretofore has stuck and been killed in the Senate.

Beveridge of Indiana, himself an ex-cowboy of the plains, has been, singularly but with honest advocacy, our effective opponent of the plan.

To-day Senator Beveridge is with equal honesty the converted friend and advocate of separate statehood, now the Senate seems all disposed to pass the measure.

Senator Beveridge, refraining triumphant and elated over the handsome vote of confidence given him by the State of Indiana, will report the bill, and there ought to be no appreciable opposition to its passage.

The Senate has taken the House bill and reconstructed it to the senatorial hearts' desire. The amended measure has for its chief amendment the provision that before electing their State officials the separate States shall first prepare and submit their State constitutions to the inspection and approval of the President and Congress.

The aristocratic Senate still holds its nose over the ultra-democratic constitution of Oklahoma, and the said Senate is trying to see to it that no more democratic constitutions shall be foisted upon the incoming States.

Arizona and New Mexico, like modest maidens as they are, are keeping discreetly silent as to this senatorial change, but the watchful observer can see the pout upon the lips of the debutantes in statehood.

HOME MADE MEDICINE FOR KIDNEYS, LIVER AND BLADDER

Go to any good drug store and buy a one-half ounce vial Murax compound in original sealed package, one-half ounce fluid extract Buchu, six ounces good, pure gin. Mix together and you have the best medicine that can be had for kidneys, liver and bladder. Shake bottle well each time and take one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day after meals.

This will quickly cure symptoms such as backache, rheumatic pains in the joints or muscles, frequent or highly colored urination, scalding urine, puffiness under the eyes, dizziness, dimmed vision, etc. Chronic rheumatism, Bright's disease and dread diabetes are thus prevented.

The above mixture acts directly on the kidneys by cleansing these sponge like organs and restores their function of filtering uric acid and poisonous waste matter from the blood.

BOSTON MEAT PRICES FOR GRAND JURY

Evidence indicating that the high prices of meats are being manipulated unlawfully is being gathered by District Attorney Pelletier. If the results of his investigation warrant him, he will lay the evidence before the Grand Jury and ask for the prosecution of those responsible.

Mr. Pelletier says he regards as very important the circular letter sent out by the local general manager for Swift & Co., instructing the branch managers to "make no talk" and to hold beef and lamb for every possible cent that they would bring.

He is also deeply interested in the statement of A. G. Dearborn of the Frost & Dearborn Company, restaurateurs, that the company had been driven into insolvency by the high price of meats. This concern, which had been in business for twenty-five years on Pearl street and had catered almost exclusively to bankers and business men, failed for $30,000.

W. R. Scharton, secretary of the No-Meat Club, also has been urging the District Attorney with evidence. Mr. Pelletier has written Mr. Scharton, asking him to furnish any evidence obtainable and assuring him that the subject will be thoroughly investigated.

Reports as to the strength of the meat boycott continue to vary. Some of the marketmen say that it has made no difference with their sales, while others assert that they have lost nearly one-third of their weekly business. Observers say that in the Quincy and Faneuil Hall market stalls business has dropped off appreciately.

ANNUAL DINNER OF CONTINENTAL CLOTHING HOUSE

A great time is in store for the members of the Continental Clothing House Mutual Benefit Association, when that body holds its sixth annual banquet to-night at the Quincy House.

The committee of arrangements composed of Messrs. D. C. Otis, J. M. Glidden, W. R. Grinnell, C. E. Anderson, Shufelt and W. M. F. Wieners, has prepared an elaborate supper talk which precedes the banquet. Messrs. Brudlee, Otis, Sixy, Thompson and Mahoney speak. Andrew J. Sullivan act as toastmaster.

After the banquet an entertainment is held in the same hall. The program for the entertainment is:

Sketch, Orpheum Trio.
Solo ..... Jos. O'Brien, Henry Casey, Nat Prescott
Solo ..... Jos. O'Brien
Song, selected ..... Miss S. Shufelt
Violoncello solo ..... Nat Prescott
Xylophone solo ..... Henry Casey
Monologue ..... Jos. McDonald
Piano selection ..... Carl D. Markham

The officers of the Association are: President, E. B. Bradlee; vice-president, Walter Wieners; treasurer, A. J. Sullivan; secretary, M. Galnon.

City Hall Notes

The entire force of sailors, elevator attendants, scrubwomen, etc., connected with the city messengers' force has been transferred to the jurisdiction of the public buildings department, with the consent of the Civil Service Commission. Assistant City Messengers Silloway and Sullivan are to be transferred to the city clerk's office. Assistant Robinson goes to the water department and Assistant Mooney and two attaches of the clerk of committees office will be transferred to the street laying out department.

ExMayor Josiah Quincy is credited with being sponsor for a movement to have Edward F. McSweeney named as health commissioner by Mayor-elect Fitzgerald. Though a warm personal friend of William A. Gaston, McSweeney was persistently opposed to the Mayor-elect up to the recent fight. He is at present chairman of the Consumptive Hospital trustees.

Chairman Warren of the Civil Service Commission is satisfied that the position of penal commissioner comes under the jurisdiction of the body of which he is a member. A number of politicians have been figuring that this was one office in which the appointee would not have to be certified by the commission.

Mayor-elect Fitzgerald will have a vacancy to fill in the penal commissioner's office. Dr. Joseph Lindsay, who has been secretary to the board, has resigned to accept a probation officer in the Superior court and will assume his new duties at once. He has been receiving $3,000 per year.

The councilmanic committee on Public Lighting, which has been considering the lighting contracts to which the city is now a party, and the subject of street lighting in general, will make an exhaustive report on the matter at the meeting of the council to-night.

John J. Leahy, former deputy superintendent in the sewer division, will be appointed to his old position in the city service once Mayor-elect Fitzgerald gets back to City Hall, according to reliable information. He served for a number of years in the street department.

The work of cleaning out the pens and effects of Mayor Hibbard at City Hall was begun in his office force to-day. There will be a good deal of personal junk and other relics of the past two years' administration to be taken to the Mayor's home in Dorchester.

The first vacancy that Mayor Fitzgerald will be called upon to fill will be one in the office of street commissioner. Street Commissioner Harding's term expires on Saturday evening. It is generally believed that Harding will be reappointed.

Thomas P. Curtin, secretary of the Typographical Union, and Charles S. Lawler of Ward 21 are mentioned as candidates for the position of Superintendent of Printing, to be held by Captain James H. Smythe.

'UNITED STATES IS NATION OF BRAGGERS'

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3. The United States is a nation of braggers, Professor J. Paul Goode of the University of Chicago told members of the Woodland Woman's Club, to-night. "As a member of the Harriman party recently showed a delegation of Japanese about, I visited every city of size in the country," said the professor. "Of the fifty-five or more each boasted of some feature which could not be duplicated in the land."

NEW CITY JOB GOES TO MAYOR'S COUSIN

Dr. Silas Hibbard Ayer, a cousin of Mayor Hibbard, has been appointed school physician, a new job created by the Board of Health. Dr. Ayer, whose office is still at No. 318 Shawmut avenue, will have charge of all of the school physicians in this city. His salary is fixed at $1,000 a year.

20 FREIGHT CARS BURNED IN WRECK

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Two trainmen were probably fatally injured when two Chicago bound freight trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad crashed together at Russell to-day. The engine of the rear train was wrecked and a fire broke out which destroyed twenty freight cars, some of them loaded with merchandise.

MRS. BROKAW WINS SUIT AND $15,000 YEAR

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Mrs. W. Gould Brokaw, wife of the millionaire yachtsman, was to-day granted a separation and $15,000 a year allimony by Justice Putnam in the Supreme Court at Mineola, L. I., as a result of her suit against her husband for a limited divorce and $30,000 allimony.

Neither Mrs. Brokaw or her husband was in court when the decision of Justice Putnam was handed down. He turned the document over to his clerk, and it was filed with the county clerk of Nassau county. Then the principals and lawyers in the case were notified.

Mrs. Brokaw declared that her husband's income was $90,000 a year, and that she should have one-third of this. The decision is regarded as a compromise.

When the trial came on an end on New Year's Day it was generally conceded that Mrs. Brokaw had proved her charges of cruelty and abandonment.

John F. McIntyre, counsel for Brokaw, had made strenuous denial that his client's income was $90,000 a year, as alleged by his wife. Lawyer Baldwin, for the defendant, however, went far toward proving the contention. There were conferences among the lawyers over matters, and it was finally left to Justice Putnam.

Judge Putnam in his decree said the trial proved plainly the contention of the plaintiff, and then added:

"The proof of the trial disclosed incredible incompatibility produced by acrimonious irritation on the part of Mr. Brokaw. Mr. Brokaw's conduct to Justice is admitted by his friends.

"As to the charge of intemperance made against the husband, Justice Putnam says:

"In view of the charges made it should be stated that the evidence does not show that the defendant has been habitually intemperate."

PRESIDENT ZELAYA SAILS FOR SPAIN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—Former President Zelaya of Nicaragua, according to State Department advices, to-day sailed from Vera Cruz, Mexico, for Vigo, Spain, this Thursday. It is a peculiar coincidence that Vigo is the home of former President Castro of Venezuela. Zelaya is expected to go to Belgium soon.

NICARAGUAN PLOT TO FIRE ON U. S. SHIP

MANAGUA, Feb. 3.—A plot to fire upon an American warship in the harbor of Corinth is reported to have been discovered by the Government. Madriz and his allies declare that the scheme was hatched in an attempt to cause intervention by the United States Government.

The report of the alleged plot caused great excitement in the capital. A reaction in the old anti-American sentiment became apparent, and steps to safeguard members of the American colony were immediately taken. It was declared by Government officials that arrests would speedily follow, and that the ringleaders in the plan were known. The Madriz government has from the first maintained an attitude to the United States more conciliatory than that of Zelaya.

Minister-General Baca to-day expressed his gratitude for the efforts of Admiral Kimball in connection with the case of members of the Red Cross from Managua who had been detained by the rebels at Corn Island.

PLEA TO TAFT FOR WATER POWER SITES

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—J. J. Brown, representing the Western Conservation League of Spokane, to-day protested to President Taft against the action of the Interior Department in withdrawing water power sites in the public domain from settlement and development. He asked for more liberal treatment of private capital in the opening up of water power sites, declaring that this development will save the nations' coal and timber.

AGED SHOPLIFTER SENTENCED AGAIN

Elizabeth Dillon, fifty years old, well known to the police of New England, was sentenced to Deer Island for six months in the Judge Bolster in the Municipal Criminal Court on a charge of shoplifting. She was arrested yesterday afternoon by Inspector Joseph Knox of headquarters. She has spent eleven years of her life in the House of Correction on Deer Island.

MRS. EDDY'S LIFE THEORY HER'S ALONE

Alfred Farlow has made a public statement in regard to articles written about Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science Church, in which he says:

"In regard to the controversy as to Mrs. Eddy's relation to Sir John McNeil, I desire to call attention to the following statement which was published in the Christian Science Sentinel of March 12, 1904:

Some years ago a relative of our leader and teacher, Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, a member of the McNeil family in Scotland, Mrs. Eddy described, reported that the Right Hon. Sir John McNeil, G. C. B., of Edinburgh, Scotland, was her 35-second cousin. Search of the information seemed to be authentic, and this statement was accepted and used in good faith by writers on Mrs. Eddy's genealogy.

Mrs. Eddy has had this matter carefully investigated, and having obtained no positive proof that the Right Hon. Sir John McNeil was her ancestor, she requests that all others writing upon her genealogy shall in the future observe this correction. General John McNeil, who is known as the hero of Lundy's Lane, was a relative on Mrs. Eddy's father's side of the Baker family. He was the brother of President Pierce's mother. This is probably the line which leads to Mrs. Eddy's Wilkinson ancestors. Mrs. Eddy herself has never claimed to be a descendant.

ARCHIBALD McLELLAN.

"Mrs. Eddy published statement was based upon information which she had received from Archibald McLellan, nephew of General John McNeil. Recent biographical research, however, has discovered that General John McNeil, Mrs. Eddy's relative, was not a descendant of Sir John McNeil of Scotland, the correction above quoted was published in the Christian Science Sentinel.

"Several New Hampshire histories made the statement that Captain John Baker, ancestor, Hannah Lowell, daughter of Judah Lowell, thus agreeing with Mrs. Eddy as to her relationship with this distinguished pair.

"It is stated that Mrs. Eddy's religion is made up of Shakerism, Quimbyism, the Great Hereafter, etc. There may be some points of agreement in the ethical teaching of all religionists, but I desire to state the following fact which has never been controverted: That outside of the Bible, the writings of Mrs. Eddy and those written which are based upon her teachings, the peculiar statement of the science of being, the science of God and man, the science of cause and effect, are not to be found anywhere in literature.

"Mrs. Eddy's demonstrable theory of life has no kinship whatever with the peculiar beliefs and practices of either of the three forms of belief mentioned above."

THESE WOMEN RECOMMEND DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS

Convincing Evidence of the Great Benefit Received from the Tonic Treatment Which Is Curing Weak Women Everywhere.

It has been said that seven-tenths of the women of this country suffer from their peculiar infirmities, and endless distress that makes the lives of many of them miserable and almost unendurable. To such sufferers it will be a blessing to know that there is a remedy especially suited to their ills, a blood-making tonic that will restore the functions to their regular activity without which there can be no permanent good health.

If there is any interruption of the law of nature, symptoms will result such as severe headache, loss of appetite, pale or sallow complexion, palpitation of the heart, swollen ankles or eyelids, nervousness, offensive breath, etc., etc. The sufferer may exhibit one or more of these symptoms, or may have all. They simply indicate the ravages that disease has made upon the system, and the more of these symptoms the patient shows the greater the need for prompt and persistent treatment, until they have been banished and health is restored.

Hundreds of women have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the most gratifying results and no other medicine is so highly endorsed by them. Following are a few recently investigated cases:

PALE, WEAK AND LANGUID.

If This Is Your Condition Try the Tonic Treatment.

Unless the blood is pure and red health and development is impossible. Growing girls, therefore, who become pale, languid and run down, find in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the tonic exactly suited to their needs, for these pills purify and make the blood healthy. A girl benefited by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills soon restored Miss Florence B. Waterhouse of No. 112 Revere street, Bridgeport, Conn., to perfect health. She says:

"As I approached womanhood I was extremely pale and had no strength or ambition. I seemed to have scarcely any blood. I had terrible headaches over the eyes, which made me sick all over. Frequently I was troubled with dizzy spells. I suffered every month with much pain owing to my weakness.

"I was under the care of a doctor for six months, but did not get any relief from his treatment, so decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A short trial of the pills entirely cured me."

IN GOOD HEALTH NOW.

Nothing Helped Her Until She Tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. Ernest Crowley, of No. 137 West Central street, Natick, Mass., recommends Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as a tonic for weak women. The cure they made in her case is good proof of their value. She says:

"After the birth of my child the weakness from which I had suffered for some time became much worse. I had severe headaches and dizzy spells. I nearly everything that was recommended to me, but I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was helped after using only a few boxes. My color and strength came back and I took the pills until I was perfectly well. I, therefore, praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills very highly."

WEAK AFTER CHILDBIRTH.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored This Rhode Island Woman's Health.

A recent case showing the tonic value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is that of Mrs. James E. Campbell of No. 29 Union street, Prospect Hill, Lonsdale, R. I., who says:

"After the birth of my little girl I was in a weak condition for several months. I suffered terribly. My leg was swollen, and I took a relapse. My stomach was so weak that I could not retain more than a quarter of a teaspoonful of beef tea at a time. I grew weaker and weaker until life hung in the balance for ten weeks with the doctor trying to bring back some strength.

"My husband at last asked me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, for the doctor seemed to have done all he could for me. I started taking the pills after I had been in bed for ten weeks. I began to gain almost immediately, and after a good trial of the pills was able to get up and walk. I recovered my health and strength and praise the pills highly."

Why Not Cure Yourself?

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are good for men and women, but they help the latter in a special way at the critical times in their lives. They are also of value to overwork; they not only minister fresh strength, but overwhelm all nervous symptoms. They are a specific for anaemia or bloodlessness; they rapidly make pure, rich blood. They are particularly helpful to girls who are on the verge of womanhood, for they bring about correct development. They also meet all the requirements of the period when maturity is reached. They quickly correct the depressing condition known as spring languor. They strengthen weak digestion and rouse up every sluggish organ to healthful activity. No other tonic combines so many virtues.

Our booklet, "Plain Talks to Women," explains fully why Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are of benefit to women of all ages and gives many helpful suggestions in regard to the care of their health. It will be sent free, in a sealed envelope, upon request to any woman interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Insist upon getting the genuine pills, which are sold only in packages bearing the full trademark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." They are never sold loose, by the dozen or hundred.

INTERNATIONAL RACE TO SOUTH POLE IN SIGHT

LONDON, Feb. 3.—The plan for an American expedition to the South Pole, outlined by Commander Robert E. Peary, is accepted by British scientific men and explorers as a challenge for an international race. The preparations for the British expedition of 1910, commanded by Captain R. F. Scott, are to be rushed, and steps to a that end were begun to-day. In the opinion of scientific leaders, the British American contest is on.

Dr. Jean Charcot, the French explorer, is already in the Antarctic, however, and he may win out ahead of all others. The Terra Nova, Captain Scott's vessel, is ready for sea, and on her departure, which is scheduled for July 1, the Union Jack will be advanced advantageously remains to be seen.

If the expedition in Commander Peary's ship Roosevelt, completed so far outfitted, could start ahead of the British section of the Peary Arctic club and the National Geographic Society, is actually started, the two chief explorations of the last of the great discoveries will be well matched.

Although Captain Scott is trained as a leader of expeditions, he commanded the expedition of 1901, which made a striking South record—there are men of daring among Peary's followers. Both are well outfitted, could meet ship as an equal in each section of the North Pole discoverer to head another party.

The Roosevelt is well matched in the Terra Nova, which is the largest and strongest of the old whalers. The latter was the queen of the Greenland whalers and did hard service in the Antarctic in 1903 she was purchased by Captain Scott for the discovery expedition which Captain Scott commanded.

Is the annual dance of the Pastime A. A. in Cyprus Hall, Prospect street, Cambridge, to-morrow night, going to be a record success? It is!

How do we know? Because, in addition to notably dances, pretty girls and other entertaining features, there is to be a grand pie-eating contest between eight charming girls from companies now playing in Boston.

Oh, you chorus girl! Oh, you fun-loving people! What the girls be a pie-eating contest when the contestants are going to sing in the final duet? Why, they will be right there with the berries!

Another novelty will be introduced for relief of this contest will be the presentation of a silver cup, donated by Jules Hurtig, the sporting writer, whose daily column is the envy of all sporting writers. Upon receipt

GRANT GETS BIG BOOST IN SALARY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—A substantial increase in his salary anstened Eddie Grant's signed contract on the Phillies' roll was one of the men who, like Moore, was changed by the iron will of Owners of the Phillies when they sent out the contracts for the players. Rodie did without a doubt play startling fast ball for the Quakers at the third sack station all of last Summer while his batting even was better than the Stetson beauty, Hans Wagner, in the matter of collective base hits.

Manager Dooin a few days ago said that he considered Grant the best third baseman in the league and equal to any American League star of that section of the field. Grant's one glaring fault is his inability to bunt. The Harvard boy is one of the fastest men in the business in getting down to first base, and if he could and would lay down a bunt occasionally there would be few infielders who would be able to handle the ball in time to get him at first.

But Grant thinks bunting is a baby's game. In a double-header played by the Phillies in New York last July, Eddie got credit for seven hits during the afternoon's performance, three of them being clean placed bunts down the third base line, which Devlin would not charge as a hit to beat the Crimson collegian. But Grant, instead of being very much elated over his feat of getting seven in one afternoon, stated to Hugo Bezdek, then trainer of the Phillies, that the three bunts he had made spoiled his record for the afternoon. When a ball player thinks that way he certainly does want to see the jingles without semblance of a doubt.

ABSOLUTELY PURE. OLD CROW

STRAIGHT DOPE
FOR SPORT FANS

FATHER OF THE BOXING GAME IS DEAD.

JOE WALSH, OF NO. 512 SCHOOL street, Brockton, asks me to say for him that Young Harrington did not quit in his bout with E. Connelly last week at Salem. Walsh says Harrington weighed 118 pounds and his opponent 126, and that Harrington hit his tongue through in the third round. His own tongue, not Connelly's. I don't know just how Walsh will record Connelly's victory over Harrington, unless he puts it that the latter knocked himself out by biting his own tongue, which would be a novel way of securing a K. O. However, the main thing is that Mr. Walsh wants to let the sport fans know that Harrington is no quitter and that he will do better in a bout with a boy nearer his own weight.

Straight Dope, Boston American:

Dear Sir: Being a constant reader of your dope column, I would like a tip regarding the following:

Hugh Keenan Logue, better known as Gus Logue, wishes me issue a challenge to Frank Kid Fitzgerald for a bout for any number of rounds, for money or marbles. Also Gus offers me to issue a challenge to any other 125-pound boy in the State. I also wish to state that Logue has a decision to his credit against Dutch Wallace.

Please print this in your paper as early as possible. Thanking you, I am,

Yours truly,
GEORGE MAHANAY, Manager.
31 Belmont street, Charlestown, Mass.

THERE IS A LETTER IN THIS office for Max Landy, the boxer.

Straight Dope, Boston American:

I am a regular reader of your column (called Straight Dope, isn't it?) and I would like to give to the question asked by John Belman, Jr., and I think it is a most interesting one.

There was a Ch. Keane at the recent meeting of the masters at the Revere A. A. on Exeter street, and he was also a winner in the 15-mile race, coming over a few minutes after the final for the medals.

Now, I saw Keane about a week ago in your Sunday edition, and if you will look back in your paper you will find I am correct.

Now, straight Dope, I want to give you a little information about Keane. He is a member of the Boston Athletic Association and has taken in three heats at the B. A. A. and consequently has not been doing as well as he is capable of, now future chance perhaps.

Hoping that you will make it all right with the gentlemen who asked the question and wishing you success, I remain,

Yours truly,
J. J. SULLIVAN.
7 Gomes street, South Boston.

If you people expect me to keep tab on every amateur bout who hobs up, you're looking for something I'm afraid you won't get. There are enough professionals and amateurs to keep the county recorders of the force busy recording all the bouts they win and don't win. Keane may be a very good boy, but I've never heard of him until he does a little more before I travel very far to look him over. This job of mine is a pretty good one, I have to say that myself, but it should have plenty of time to take in all these amateur bouts, and I really I haven't.

NELSON BEGINS TRAINING FOR WOLGAST BOUT

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Battling Nelson is in town. He arrived with a retinue of trainers and sparring partners. Before the sun sets to-day he will have renewed acquaintance with the roads around Mission's, his old training quarters in the Colma district.

Nelson has a world's championship fight with Ad Wolgast to look forward to and the Dane is very serious about it. Not that he expects any trouble with the Milwaukee youngster, but because he has an old score to settle.

He went ten rounds with Wolgast at Los Angeles last July, and the test came at the close of what had been a hard twelve-month for Nelson. The champion was travel-worn from much flitting from city to city, and was jaded from many fights.

Wolgast had the better of the ten rounds, and while no decision was rendered, the news went around throughout the land that Nelson, the champion, had a close call.

Perhaps I had," said Nelson. "I was coming back to myself though when the last round began, and it was a lucky thing for Wolgast that only ten rounds were called for. I am not trying to belittle his showing, at that. They say he did well and I have no doubt he did. I only know that I travelled across the continent to box than nine times in the twelve months previous, fought and defended my championship four times.

"That's all past and gone now. I'm out here seeking a little revenge and I feel dreamily a little money. I believe I will defend to Mr. Wolgast's case and see what I'll be ready for that great advertiser, Battling Nelson of Point Pleasant."

Nelson has received word from promoter Ad Hester that the second bout for the Wolgast championship has been transferred from Colma to Alameda. The Alameda Athletic Club which has its strong, new Mastic station of the Hercules route will handle the championship bout and Ad Hester will manage the affair.

The original date, February 22, will be adhered to and Nelson will go into camp at Millett's to-day. Wolgast will arrive here to-day. It is expected and will establish his training quarters at the Seal Rock Hotel.

Nelson says he is thoroughly satisfied with his condition and believes that he will enter the ring well fitted physically to protect his championship laurels.

CAUSES OF AND REMEDIES FOR CHILD CRIMINALS will be told in the SUNDAY AMERICAN by the leading Boston authority.

BIG REGATTA ON CHARLES RIVER

The national rowing regatta champion-ships may be held on the Charles river course this summer, as that is the plan of the N. A. A. A., which held a meeting last night and threshed out the question.

President George R. McGrath an officer will be asked to get the cooperation of the other clubs in this vicinity to join in bringing the event to this city.

The Charles river is an ideal place for holding the regatta, since there is no lake water to be considered in the matter of holding the races at a certain time of the day, as in the past. It can be held at any time as the water is at the same level since the building of the new dam before the last regatta.

James P. Fox, the veteran oarsman, who has done much for the sport here, believes that it would be advisable to hold a three days' regatta.

YALE BEATS M. I. T. ON ICE BY SCORE, 3-0

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Feb. 3.—Yale won its only home hockey game of the season when it defeated the Massachusetts Institute of Technology seven (7) to Boston by the score of 3 to 0.

The Yale players made the first period warm and interesting for the Bills, who secured only a single goal before time elapsed. Although Dick Merritt scored two goals for Yale to offset for Captain John Brown, the latter's all round play was the feature of the Yale play. For the visitors Sloane starred.

CLINE IS AHEAD OF CAL DEMAREST

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Harry P. Cline, the Philadelphia expert, again defeated Calvin Demarest, winning the second block of the 18.2 billiard championship match played at Orchestra Hall, 500 to 452. This adds 48 points added to his 152 lead from the first night's play gives the Quaker City expert a total of 200 points to the match, leaving him 500 points to make, while Demarest has to count 705.

JOE THOMAS MARRIED.

LOWELL, Feb. 3.—Miss Jennie Gardner of Lowell and Joseph D. Daly of California were married in the rectory of the Sacred Heart Church, the pastor, Rev. Father T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., officiating. The bridesmaid was Miss Susan Gardner, a sister of the bride, and Joseph Daly, the groom's brother, was best man.

The bride is a sister of George, Billy and Jimmy Gardner, well known sports. The groom boxes under the name of Joe Thomas.

JIMMY WALSH AN EASY VICTOR

RUTLAND, Vt., Feb. 3.—Jimmy Walsh of Boston toyed 11 fast one-minute rounds at Baxter Hall with the Providence Kid of Providence before a crowd of 500. Walsh's superiority over his better opponent was apparent at all stages of the bout, which was the first card of its kind held in twenty-one years.

Bob Somerville was the wrestler, acted as referee.

MANTELL GETS K.O. ON SAWYER

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 3.—The reopening of the shows at the Rhode Island A. C. in Shetucket was marked by the sudden ending of the main bout, for Tom Sawyer of Lewiston, Me., apparently quit cold to Frank Mantell of Pawtucket in the second round.

More than 500 sports thronged the ring side and they were intensely disgusted and disappointed by the sudden termination of the contest.

In the first round Sawyer failed to display any marked ability, and he repeatedly covered up and retreated in the face of Mantell's attack. The second round gave promise, for both appeared to box. Near the close of the round Mantell stepped in and caught Sawyer on the chin with an uppercut.

There did not seem to be much force to the blow and the spectators gasped when Sawyer slowly sank to the floor and fell outstretched on his face. Mantell endeavored to pick up his opponent and carry him to his corner, but the referee waved him aside and declared him a winner.

The semi-final bout of the best card of the evening, Kid Carter, the knockout welter-weight of Providence, and Stapping Hayes of the Providence deaf mute boxer, in four rounds.

GRANT GETS BIG BOOST IN SALARY

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 3.—A substantial increase in his salary mastened Eddie Grant's signed contract on or the Phillies. Grant was one of the men who, like Magee, was remembered by the team owners after the Phillies when they sent out the contracts to the players. Eddie did without a dental play startling first half for the Quakers at the third sack station all of last Summer, while his hitting even was better than the $10,000 beauty, Hans Wagner, in the matter of collective base hits.

Manager Booth a few days ago said that he considered Grant the most third baseman in the league, and equal to any American League player of that section of the field. Grant's one glaring fault is his inability to bunt. The Harvard boy is one of the fastest men in the business in getting down to first base, and if he could and would lay down a bunt successfully there would be few infielders who would be able to handle the ball in time to get him at first.

But Grant falters bunting is a baby's game. In a double-header played by the Phillies in New York last Fall, Eddie got credit for seven hits during the afternoon's performance three of them being clearly placed bunts down the third base line, which Terry could not handle in time to head the Urbanon collegian. His brain, instead of being very much elated over his feat of getting seven in one afternoon, is stated to Billy Mazzo, then the manager of the Phillies, that these three bunts had made spoiled his record for the afternoon. Which bolt player thinks that way he certainly does want to pass the singles without assistance of a doubt.

STRAIGHT DOPE
FOR SPORT FANS

EVIDENTLY THE BOXING GAME is not going to be opened up in Holland and other European towns as fast as we thought. It had been tipped off that the ten-round bout last night between Dancin Champion Jimmy Walsh and the French Kid would be the first of a number of matches, but someone got the dope mixed. The boys were warned that only an exhibition bout would be permitted, and the Chief of Police was at the ring side to keep tab on matters. So close did he keep cases that several times he warned Jimmy to "go easy" with the French boy. And Jimmy went easy, with the result that several of the knockers who are always roasting Walsh and his manager, Eddie Keevin, will be able to point out that this unknown kid was able to stay with Jimmy through ten rounds.

ONCE A MAN WAS POINTED OUT to me as being able to step soundly in a boiler factory, and I've frequently heard that one could get used to being banged if he went through the operation often enough. However these things may be, these men haven't much of a shade on a brother of Kid Goodman, the Boston boxer who fought Tommy O'Keefe, the crack little Philadelphia boy, at the Armory Tuesday night.

If you were there you will remember that from the fourth round on O'Keefe was a very busy young man mussing up Goodman's face. It is supposed by some that by the end of the bout one glance at it would have made a meat trust boycotter grab for his revolver.

While all this was going on a brother of Kid Goodman was in the building, but he didn't seem to be much interested in how shaking the Kid was getting. He spent the time in the corridor leaning against a post with his back to the ring looking at the funny pictures in the rotogravure.

As I said, one can get used to anything, and probably Goodman's brother was accustomed to the Kid getting hits.

JIM JEFFRIES IS NOTED AMONG HIS friends for his ability of letter writing. It is very rarely he answers a letter of any description, preferring to send his messages by wire. Such experience with telegraph companies has taught Jeff to be terse and to the point. Charlie Waldron, Jeff's manager when the big fellow was champion of the country, but who is now the owner of the new Casino Theatre on Haney street, showed me a telegram the other evening, which illustrates Jeff's style.

Jeff acted Monroe thoroughly, so the night of the champion's fight with Monroe in San Francisco, when by the way was the last time he was in the ring, Mr. Waldron sent him the following telegram.

James J. Jeffries, San Francisco, Cal.
Good luck. Don't lose your head. He is a big one.
WALDRON.

It is a matter of history that Jeff knocked Monroe out in two rounds. Then he wired the following.

Chas. B. Waldron, Mr. Clemens, Mich.
Won easy. Only got in fast. Good luck. JEFF.

E. WALSH OF NO. 172 SCHOOL street, Brockton, asks me to say for him that Young Harrington did not quit in his bout with E. Connelly last week at Salem. Walsh says Harrington weighed 118 pounds and his opponent 126, and that Harrington bit his tongue through in the third round, (His own tongue, not Connelly's.) I don't know just how Walsh will regard Connelly's victory over Harrington, unless he puts it that the latter knocked himself out by biting his own tongue, which would be a novel way of scoring a K. O. However, the main thing is that Mr. Walsh wants to let the sport fans know that Harrington is no quitter and that he will do better in a bout with a boy nearer his own weight.

Straight Dope, Boston American:
Dear Sir—Being a constant reader of your dope column, I would like you to print the following:

Hugo Stevens hopes (better known as Gus Lesnevich) has issued a challenge to Frank Sid Fitzgerald to a bout for any amount of money, side bets or marbles. Also Stevens would like to post a challenge to any other 125-pound boxer in the world, also any man who has ever been given the decision in his entire career. Hoping to see this in your paper as early as possible, I remain,

Yours truly,
GEORGE MANNAWAY, Manager.
35 Belmont street, Charlestown, Mass.

THERE IS A LETTER IN THIS office for Max Landy, the boxer.

Straight Dope, Boston American:
I am a regular reader of your column called "Straight Dope," and noticed the answer you gave to the question asked by Dan Hogan of Lynn, and I think it is a very unsatisfactory answer.

The question was if C. Kane at the present age of the amateurs at the Boston A. A. was a better fighter, and he was asked to name the 115-pound class, winning over Johnny Coyne in four falls.

I read this about a week ago in your Sunday edition, and I have been back to your dope box until find that I am correct.

Now, sir, I think that you should give your tip, (of course, you cannot be a scout for the amateurs) and tell Dan Hogan that he can take to those boys at the B. A. A. and see for himself what he is doing at present.

Hoping that you will make it all right with the gentleman who asked the question and thanking you in advance for the favor, I beg to remain, Yours for Straight Dope.

7 Grass street, South Boston.

If you people expect me to keep tab on every amateur boxer who bobs up, you're looking for something I'm afraid you won't get. There are enough professionals and amateurs to keep the country recorder's office force busy recording all the bouts they win and don't win. Keane may be a very good boy—he probably is—but I'll wait until he does a little more before I travel very far to look him over. This job of mine is a cinch, I don't have to do anything but work, so I should have plenty of time to take in all those amateur bouts, but really I haven't.

NELSON BEGINS TRAINING FOR WOLGAST BOUT

By W. W. NAUGHTON.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Battling Nelson is in town. He arrived with a retinue of trainers and sparring partners. Before the sets to-day he will have renewed acquaintance with the roads around Millett's, his old training quarters in the Colma district.

Nelson has a world's championship fight with Ad Wolgast to look forward to and the Dane is very serious about it. Not that he expects any trouble with the Milwaukee youngster, but because he has an old score to settle.

He went ten rounds with Wolgast at Los Angeles last July, and the test came at the close of what had been a hard twelve-month for Nelson. The champion was travel-worn from much drifting from city to city, and was jaded from many fights.

Wolgast had the better of the ten rounds, and while no decision was recorded, the news went abroad throughout the land that Nelson, the champion, had a close call.

"Perhaps I had," said Nelson. "I was coming back to myself though when the last round began, and it was a lucky thing for Wolgast that only ten rounds were called for. I'm not trying to belittle his showing at that. They say he did well and I have no doubt he did. I only know that I travelled across the continent no less than nine times in the two-year months preceding the fight and defended my championship four times.

"That's all past and gone now. I'm out here seeking a little revenge and incidentally a little money. I believe I will attend to Mr. Wolgast's case, and after that I'll be ready for the first good opening Freddy Welsh or Pondy Pelkie.

Nelson has received word from promoter Sid Hester that the scene of the Nelson-Wolgast championship bout will be transferred from Colma to Alameda. The Alameda Athletic Club which has its stronghold at Mastic station at the Horseshoe route will handle the championship bout and Sid Hester will manage the affair.

The original date, February 22, will be adhered to and Nelson will go into training at Millett's to-day. Wolgast will arrive here from to-day it is expected and will establish his training quarters at the Seal Rock Hotel.

Nelson says he is thoroughly satisfied with his condition and believes that he will enter the ring well fitted physically to defend his championship laurels.

CAUSES OF AND REMEDIES FOR CHILD CRIMINALS will be told in the SUNDAY AMERICAN by the leading Boston authority.

BIG REGATTA ON CHARLES RIVER

The national rowing regatta championships may be held on the Charles river course this summer, as that is the plan of the N. E. A. A. which held a meeting last night, and brought the suggestion of President George R. McGrath an effort will be made to get the co-operation of the other clubs in this vicinity to join in bringing the event to this city.

The Charles river is an ideal place for holding the regatta since there is no tide water to be considered in the matter of holding the races at a certain time of the day, as in the case at the Basin, for at any time as the water is at the same level since the building of the new dam below the basin.

James P. Fox, the veteran oarsman, who has done much for the sport here, believes that it would be advisable to hold a three days' regatta.

YALE BEATS M. I. T. ON ICE BY SCORE, 3-0

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Feb. 3.—Yale won its only home hockey game of the season when it defeated the Massachusetts Institute of Technology seven from Boston by the score of 3 to 0.

MANTELL GETS K.O. ON SAWYER

PROVIDENCE, Feb. 3.—The reopening of the shows at the Rhode Island A. C. of Thornton was marked by the sudden ending of the ten-round bout for Tom Sawyer of Lowiston, Me., apparently quit cold to Frank Mantell of Pawtucket in the second round.

More than 900 sports thronged the ring side and they were intensely disgusted and disappointed by the sudden termination of the contest.

In the first round Sawyer failed to display any marked ability, and he repeatedly covered up and retreated in the face of Mantell's attack. Society Widow Weddings Stun Buds and Belles

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Boston widows are becoming engaged at such a rapidly increasing rate—there have been four within the past month—that the buds and belles of the smart set are standing aside in wide-eyed wonder while they watch every matrimonial prize of their own circle either appropriated by the Gotham girls or the widows. The latest young widow to announce her engagement is Miss Hilda Mrs. Robert Heaton, daughter of Mrs. Hall Curtis and sister of Miss Silsbee Curtis, who last year married one of Boston's wealthiest widows, Mrs. Amorita Sears. Mrs. Heaton, who is young and handsome as well as accomplished, is one of the most interesting young women of her set. Mr. Ail is one of the wealthiest young bachelors in town and has long been looked upon as the star matrimonial prize by the smart set, but has, up to this time, most skillfully evaded the wiles and witcheries of designe debutantes and managing mammas. He is the son of Mrs. Daniel Ail (Esther Pomeroy) of Prides Crossing and Commonwealth avenue and is a member of the Union, Algonquin, Athletic, Country, Essex County, Tennis and Racquet and Automobile Clubs. The wedding is to take place shortly after Easter.

A representative group of Boston fashionables this morning attends the third in the series of popular lectures that are being given this season at the Chauncey Hall club rooms on Boylston street, by Franklin Antonio Stolle. The lectures are given every Thursday morning at 11 o'clock and will continue on into Lent, the remaining dates being February 10, 17, and 24. The subject of the lecture to-day is "Venice and the Glory of Her Art," while under the lects for the remainder of the course are "Treasures of the Dresden Art Galleries," "Masterpieces of the Vienna Art Galleries," and "Famous Art Galleries of Paris, including the Louvre and Luxembourg." Professor Stolle has traveled so much abroad in recent years that she is thoroughly familiar with all the art centres of the Old World and makes her lectures most realistic and vivid.

The Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. George von L. Meyer of Boston and Washington, this evening give the second of the series of evening receptions for which they issued invitations about two weeks ago. The first of the series was given last Thursday evening and was attended by practically all of the official set as well as the resident society of the capital. Mrs. Meyer will doubtless be assisted this evening by her two pretty daughters, the Misses Julia and Alice Meyer, who are well known among the younger set here. Some of the Bostonians who will be present are Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ames, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Prothingham and Miss Alison Houghton, who are home guests at the Meyer residence, and Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, who are planning a series of musicales to be preceded by large dinner parties.

* * *

Mrs. Adeline F. Fitz has gone to Florida for the latter part of the Winter. She has a cottage at Ormond, where she has decided to remain until some time this Spring.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Adams, who spent much of their season each year at their Newport home, have come to Boston for the remainder of the Winter.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert N. Littlefield of Forest Hills and Dedham announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Bessie Littlefield, to George Parker Stuart of this city.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas (Blanche Ochiltree), who were married recently in New York, have arrived in their former residence on Bellevue avenue, Newport, which belongs to Mrs. Timothy Kane, and will arrive early next season.

* * *

Miss Julia Sands of Newport is in Boston visiting with friends this week.

* * *

Miss Leslie Lindsey of Boston, who is visiting in Washington, is the guest of Mrs. Arthur Irwin, the daughter of Rear Admiral William Manning Irwin, U. S. N., and Mrs. Irwin.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill Thorndike of this city are to go to New York late this week to be present at the wedding on Monday of Thorndike's sister, Miss Mary Adams, to Francis Hoppin on Tuesday, February 3.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas G. Cook (Grace Bigelow Tracy), who were married recently in New York, are to make their new home in New York on their return from an extended honeymoon in the South. Mrs. Cook is a cousin of Miss Jane Bigelow of this city, who was one of the bridesmaids and is now visiting her mother's relatives, the Bigelows of Baltimore.

A series of teas that are of interest in no increasing quantity of social events is that given in the Chauncey Hall Building each Friday afternoon each week when the patronesses, all of whom are advocates of woman suffrage, usually have some notable guest present. Among the cities whom the guests have an opportunity of meeting in many cases the guest of the afternoon is asked to make an informal address, after which there is always a short informal discussion around the tea table.

* * *

Mrs. Edward Rowland Graham holds a reception this afternoon at her home on Gloucester street. This is a continuation of the series that was started in January and that will be held on the remaining Thursday afternoons in this month. Mrs. Graham was Miss Gladys Jacquelin Smith of New York before her marriage, and she is a cousin of Mrs. Lettice Lee Delafield and Mrs. T. J. Oakley Rhinelander of New York.

I SEE BURBANK SAYS THAT SPINELESS CACTUS IS GOOD TO EAT - I'LL JUST CUT THE SPINES OFF THESE AND HAVE A CACTUS BROIL
I DONT KNOW HOW TO COOK EM
WATCH ME, YOU WOMEN CANT COOK ANY THING WITH A COOK BOOK
AINT YOU GOING TO EAT THESE BROILED SPINELESS CACTUS AFTER I COOKED EM?
OH DEAR! I MUST GET A DOCTOR
WHAT SHALL WE DO DOCTOR?
I CAN DO NOTHING FOR HIM, BETTER SEE BURBANK!

Many Events in Social Life of Greater Boston

About 1,000 people attended the charity ball of the Hotel Somerset under the auspices of the affiliated British societies and their women auxiliaries. All the British societies of Greater Boston aided in making the affair a success. A salute to the colors by squads of four men representing various military organizations was the feature of the evening. The Fifth Regiment, M. A. M.; Eighth Regiment, M. V. M.; National Lancers, Pandiet Veterans, Spanish War Veterans, Annapolis Veterans, Cadets of the British Realm of St. George, British Veterans of the Boer War in khaki, Highland Dress Association, leaders, color bearers and Richland guards were other features.

The sixth annual minstrel show of the Dedham Catholic Club, held in Dedham Hall, Back Bay, was well attended. The entertainment was in charge of Thomas F. Keenan. Michael T. Collins was interlocutor and the end men were Bill Hyde, Hesterwell, Eddie Leonard, Jo Pennigy, Gertrude Lynch and Joe O'Brien.

Fifty twelve hundred persons attended the annual reunion of St. Catherine's Parish, which was held in Mechanics' Building, music and dancing. The evening was opened by Fr. Jane, pastor of the church.

Charles H. Pope, son of District Chief H. W. Pope of Charlestown, and Miss Emma Trask, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Trask of South Boston, were married at the rectory of the First of Hesterly Church, South Boston, by Rev. Robert F. Johnson. The bride's sister, Miss Alice Trask, was bridesmaid, and Robert F. Pope, brother of the groom, was best man. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 78 A street.

A large audience greeted Albert Edmund Brown, baritone, at Chickering Hall. The program ranged from the classical air from Handel's "Semele" through folk songs of various countries.

The Sacred Hearts parish will hold a dancing and social party tonight at Berry Hall, Newton Centre. From 8 until 10:30 o'clock will be played followed by dancing until 1 o'clock.

Michael J. Dwyer will deliver a lecture before the members of the Boston City Club, this evening on the story of Bobby Burns. The lecture will be illustrated by songs with lantern slides. W. C. A. Fitzgerald will preside.

The Maralon Associates will hold a dance at Bloomfield Hall tomorrow evening.

In West Medford the Baptist Church held a largely attended vegetarian social.

A "harvest supper" was the feature of the monthly sociable of the West Somerville Baptist Church. A bill of fare from which meats were excluded, was served to 200 members of the Ladies' Benevolent Society.

The Arion club, composed of members of the choir of St. Joseph's church, Roxbury, held their annual banquet at the Quincy House and had as guest of honor Fr. Dennis J. Whalen, pastor of the church. Miss Catherine Clifford, president of the club, presided.

Kerry dances and Irish music formed a feature of the fifth annual reunion, concert and ball of the Knights and Ladies of the Red Branch, held in Paul Revere and Talbot Halls. Nearly a thousand people attended the event. Irish County Clubs in the city.

The Marquis Industrial Society of Roxbury College will give an entertainment to the members of the sophomore and freshman classes in the assembly room of the college on famous street, Roxbury, tonight.

The annual reception of the Wellesley Hill Social Club will be held this evening at Wellesley Hill next Monday evening.

The members of Paul Revere, Revere Beach and Lynn Railroad Mutual Aid Association will give a ball in Odd Fellows Hall, Lynn, this evening. President Morris G. Adams, Secretary John A. Dunn and Master Mechanic Roby of Lynn are among the guests invited.

The Only Buds For Mine

By JAMES RAVENSCROFT

Of buds that bloom in the Spring, tra la,
We all very sweet and fine,
But the buds that bloom in the Winter months
Are the only buds for mine.

The lights that peep from their wraps and furs
With lips and cheeks aglow,
And carry bloom at the gay "affairs"
In the time of sofa and snow.

The pretty buds that ope to view
In the sunshine and the shine,
Are sweet and dainty and charm many a heart
Of course,
But the festive buds of night,

The buds that bloom in the Spring, tra la,
Are all very sweet and fine,
But the dainty buds of the social whirl
Are the only buds for mine.

The Home for Me

O'N the shore of the lough the mountain stands,
Sentinel over the sea.
Down from its sides gray torrents run,
The loveliest tones there be.
I followed the mall when I was a child,
And the mountain is home to me.

In their shady nooks the ferns grow thick,
Clothing linen tenderly;
O'er their rocky banks the gorse flower sweeps
Like the waves of a golden sea,
And its incense rare, drawn up by the sun,
Has the fragrance of home for me.

When the sun has gone down to make way for night,
And the lough shivers coldly,
The mountain calms went to Nirvana,
They always get his cold.

WHEN for Phoenicia's wandering boys
Out rather flushed with wine
The buckeye gave them wooden change
To dear old Palestine.
Where Jason, from the rowdy West,
Came romping back to Greece,
The gay Athenians got his goat—
And kept the Golden Fleece.

My eyes they yearn for a sight of the gone,
And my ears for the dirge of the sea,
And my lips they ache for the kiss of the wind
That kisses so lustrously.
The clean, keen wind of the mountain top—
The city stifles me.

The Real Conservative

By DON MARQUIS.

THERE days the merry crook and thug
Are working soon and late.
So joyfully, so happily,
So busily elate.
But all the news of them we print
Is old as it can be.
Since Thanksgiving it carved in stone
A thousand years B. C.

WHEN Deacon Hiram Journeycat from
His little town of Tyre
He found the price of fun at Thebes
Was but a trifle higher.
They left his whiskethes to him
And blessed his dear old soul
Who Joshua sent to Nineveh
They always get his roll.

WHEN far Phoenicia's wandering boys
Out rather flushed with wine
The buckeye gave them wooden change
To dear old Palestine.
Where Jason, from the rowdy West,
Came romping back to Greece,
The gay Athenians got his goat—
And kept the Golden Fleece.

THE ethics of a certain set
Are really but as lone
As on the day Delilah dropped
The dope in Samson's bone.
She left the Billings in his teeth,
But stole his golden locks.
When Reuben went to Babylon
They went took his socks.

If When Lemuel Tubbs (aged fifty) comes
From Illinois or Maine
To meet the swelling thug and get
Concussion of the brain,
Why not surprised, or treat the fact
As if the fact were new?
The things the real conservative
And slow to change his view.

SHE TOLD HIM

Browning—I hear that you are engaged to that young widow who is visiting relatives here. Is it true?

Greening—Yes.

Browning—How did you discover that she was the one woman in the world for an old bachelor like you?

Greening—Why, she—er—told me so.

News of the Playhouses

There never was a better illustration of the stupidity of mankind than in "What Every Woman Knows," which is the new Maude Adams triumph at the Hollis Street Theatre, for how any husband could be blind to the helpfulness of such a wife as Maggie is a mystery to everybody.

Madie Tempest's laugh is the most infectious thing in "Penelope" at the Colonial, and Penelope has every reason for laughing occasionally at her husband, and then the audience laughs too.

Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm at the Tremont Theatre affords a good chance for the study of New England spinsters, not the grotesque type of the burlesque stage, but the real New England institution, and that Mrs. Kate Douglas Wiggin drew so well in her story.

Will Rogers is making "Konomy" decidedly well known in other sections of the country than Boston, from which place Daniel Voorhees Pike starts when he goes to Europe in "The Man From Home" and he makes no secret whatever of his origin. At the Majestic Theatre, Jefferson de Angelis and "The Beauty Spot" are playing the fine performance of their Boston engagement. The company surrounding Mr. De Angelis is a clever one.

The Sothern-Marlowe company gives its last performance of "Romeo and Juliet" tonight. To-morrow night "Twelfth Night" will be the bill.

"The Girl from Rector's" at the Boston Theatre is comedy and the extra matinees to-day and to-morrow will handle easily all who wish to see this piece to gratify their wish.

Bert Williams is "Mr. Lode of Koal" with Lew Fields at the Shubert Theatre Saturday night.

The husking bee in "Quincy Adams Sawyer," the New England play at the Grand Opera House this week, is one of the most enjoyable scenes of country life ever presented.

The bill at Keith's is one of the strongest that has been offered in a long time. Besides the great Ballet of Light, there is Bessie Leah Gallagher, soprano soloist of "At the Weddin'" and a big surrounding bill.

"A Knight for a Day" affords a certain amount of stars that are hard to beat, and the American Music Hall is accordingly thoroughly appealing.

"Are You a Mason?" is to be its final performance at the Castle Square, and the humor of this merry farce is being thoroughly appreciated.

Yours truly John L. is entertaining them at the Howard, and his bout with Kilrain is a big hit.

The scenery carried by the High Rollers at Weldron's Casino is far in excess of what is usually taken by a burlesque organization. The high standard of the show, its funny comedians and pretty girls make it popular.

The Columbia Burlesquers, one of the cleverest burlesque shows on the road, is attracting throngs to the Gaiety this week. There are many amusing features.

The Empire Burlesquers are amusing the patrons of the Columbia this week.

Miss Nettie Fremont, singing comedienne, Sommers and Law, a laughable comedy team, Skinny and Wood, exceptionally clever dancers, are among the attractions at the Scenic Temple.

Mon Taylor & Company, in a roaring farce, "A Smoky Affair," and Ali, Rudler and Ali, comedy acrobats, are the new entertainers at the Bijou Theatre.

The Fashionplates are the feature of the Bowdoin Square this week and a big picture and vaudeville show.

At the Comique a complete change of bill is offered and the new pictures and songs are exceedingly entertaining.

Coming Next Week.

"The Midnight Sons" comes to the Shubert with the New York company.

Walker Whiteside in "The Melting Pot," Israel Zangwill's play, visits the Majestic.

Lew Bloom for one week only.

"Going Some," a clever farce comedy, with Walter Jones, visits the Globe.

The Rays in "King Casey" come to the Grand Opera House.

WHY HE WANTED IT.

Employer—What! You want another rise? You are getting $4 a week now.

Office Boy—Yes, sir; but I'm engaged now, and my girl wants to be taken about.

IT WAS HIS BUSY DAY.

"Mr. Gosse," began the visitor, "I don't want to disturb you"—

"Very considerate of you to come in here just to tell me that," said the busy man. "I appreciate it, sir. Good day."

Banking for Women Shoppers.

A woman with an account at our Temple Place Branch has funds instantly available in the heart of the shopping district. It is not necessary for her to plan her shopping trips ahead; she does not have to depend upon the thoughtfulness of her husband, and is never forced to the rather distasteful task of calling upon him at his office for money.

We have thousands of women depositors at our Temple Place office. The second floor is devoted exclusively to their comfort and convenience. Here they may read or write, check their bundles and keep appointments—in short obtain all the privileges of a downtown women's club.

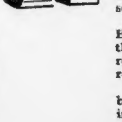
Hear the best Talent at its best through the Edison Phonograph



The world's best entertainers, the head-liners of the vaudeville shows, the stars of the operas, the good composers, band leaders and orchestra conductors are making Records for the Edison Phonograph. All of them are represented in our catalog.

Why do they consent to make Records for the Edison Phonograph? Because they believe that the Edison Phonograph will do them real justice, giving them the most artistic reproduction.

When you listen to an Edison Record played by an Edison Phonograph, you hear the original just as it was sung or played. Can you do this with any other instrument?

Edison Phonographs can be had from $12.50 to $125.00
Edison Standard Records .35
Edison Amberol Records (play twice as long) .50
Edison Grand Opera Records 75c and $1.00

There are Edison dealers every where. Go to them or send for the Edison Phonograph play both Edison Standard and Amberol Records and get complete catalogs from your dealer or from us.

TAD SAYS THAT ONE WALLOP MAY SETTLE THE BIG FISTIC BOUT

ONE PUNCH MAY DECIDE JEFF-JOHNSON BATTLE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

By TAD.

One of two punches will win the greatest battle ever fought under Queensberry rules. Either Jim Jeffries's left to the body or Jack Johnson's right hand 10 percent will do the business.

Both are what we might term the punch fighters. Jeffries is noted for nothing more than his left. It is a great wing, a tremendous wallopper and a dangerous one, but his right amounts to very little more than a shield.

His Left Haymaker.

He has never yet knocked a man out with his right. True, he battered Tom Sharkey's ribs when he fought the latter at Coney Island, but then he let his giant opponent and ran into more than were brought to him. Jeff's left is the dangerous side. It is the only side Jack Johnson needs to fear, and that side has done enough of damage, goodness knows.

Negro's Right a Stunner.

Jack Johnson, on the other hand, is a right-handed hitter. His famous wallop is a right uppercut to the chin. Sports all over the country know this punch. He knocked Tommy Burns flat on his back in the ring at Sydney with this punch. He knocked Jim Flynn cold at Frisco with the same punch, and stood Peter Felix on his ear with one of the same kind in Australia.

Uppercut Is Dangerous.

Billy Jordan, the famous Frisco announcer, declares an uppercut to be the toughest punch in the world to get away from. Bill says that no novice can use the punch correctly, because the novice stands it one foot away from his man and takes the chance of breaking his hands, because he never knows just where he is going to land.

Johnson Has Perfected Blow.

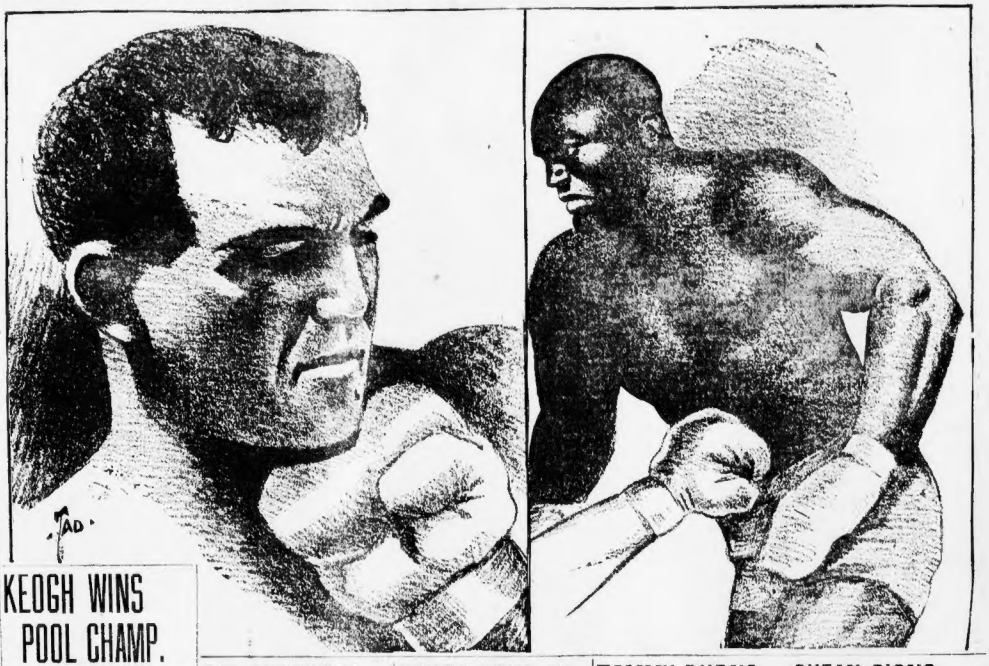
Johnson has practiced this punch until he is perfection itself. He never shoots it from a distance. His opponent is always on top of him before the punch lands, making the force just double, the force of the man running into it and the upward force put into the punch by Johnson himself.

Falling ten feet on a picket fence is no worse than running into a stiff righthand uppercut. Stanley Ketchel will vouch for this, and T. Burns, of Australia, will also play the thing a little.

When you get right down to brass tacks, the whole thing settles on one of these two punches. Jeff's left or Johnson's right are bound to win this battle, if it is decided on a knockout.

One of These Two Punches Will End the Big Fight—By Tad

The Blow That May Beat Jeff—Right-hand Uppercut to Chin | This Wallop May Drop Johnson—Left Hook to Stomach



FIGHT FANS EJECT POLICE FROM RING

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—There was boxing under difficulties at the Sharkey A. C., where Harlem Tommy Murphy and Sammy Smith fought a ten-round bout, in which Murphy had the better of the milling.

During the first preliminary, which was between Young McDonough and Jimmy McGinnis, a policeman in plain clothes broke through the back window and, rushing into the ring tried to stop Jimmy Dee Forrest and the two fighters.

Through the excitement he kept blowing his police whistle, but Inspector Walsh and Captain Thomas, who were waiting outside with the usual "no" signal, did not hear it, and failed to respond, whereupon the members seized the officer and ejected him.

ENGLISH HIGH WINS.

English High school showed greater strength in track sports yesterday afternoon than was expected, when it defeated Mechanic Arts High School in the dual games held in the English High School drill hall, 48 to 24.

OLDEST BALL PLAYER DROPS OUT OF GAME

BRIDGEPORT, Ct., Feb. 3.—James H. O'Rourke, the oldest active professional baseball player, terminated his connection with the game to-day when he transferred his interest in the local Connecticut league team to H. E. McKain of Jersey City.

O'Rourke often said it was his ambition to round out a full half century on the diamond, but to-day he relinquished that idea after 38 years of playing, which is a record. In 1872 O'Rourke began his professional career with the Mansfields of Middletown, Ct.

The following year he joined the Boston club, and in 1874 he was one of the players to take the trip to Europe. While in England he made quite a mark at cricket as well as baseball.

O'Rourke remained with Boston until 1879, when he was playing with the Providence champions under George Wright.

In 1880 he returned to Boston and the following season he went to Buffalo where he remained four seasons. In 1884 he was batting champion with an average of .356.

In 1885 O'Rourke joined the New York National club. He remained with the team through 1892 with the exception of the Brotherhood year, when he was a member of the Players' league.

The season of 1893 was his last with the sailors, he playing with the Washington club that season. In 129 games he batted for .305.

KEOGH WINS POOL CHAMP. FROM HUESTON

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Jerome B. Keogh of Rochester, once before champion professional pool player of the world and thrice the unsuccessful challenger for the title, carried off the honors and title in the concert hall of the New York Theatre when he defeated Thomas A. Hueston of St. Louis in a 600-point match by a score of 600 to 545.

The victory was greeted with the warmth that the new champion's machine-like and precise play deserved. Keogh had very much irked the patience of his spectators with his frequent and lengthy debates with himself as to how to make almost every shot. And his playing lacked the fire and flash of the defrocked champion, albeit it was the more successful.

HOPPE IS LEADING ORA MORNINGSTAR

PITTSBURG, Feb. 3.—The first night's play in the 1500-point billiard match between Willie Hoppe and Ora Morningstar resulted in a victory for Hoppe, who ran out the requisite 500 in his twenty-first inning, while Morningstar had but 312 points. The match is for a purse of $1,000, and the good play of the aforesaid champion was duly witnessed the game.

Hoppe—21, 3, 4, 22, 11, 2, 15, 106, 5, 25, 2, 21, 2, 43, 4, 54, 0, 1, 0, 128, 48—500. High run—128.

Morningstar—9, 70, 15, 0, 5, 2, 0, 15, cat, 1, 34, 19, 0, 8, 7, 56, 13, 0, 0, 0—312. High run—70.

HEUSTON AFTER KEOGH AGAIN

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Thomas A. Heuston of St. Louis to-day announced he would challenge Jerome Keogh of Rochester, who last night won from him the professional pool championship, for a return match. The former title holder and former title holder and victory over Keogh by 600 to 545 was apparently popular. Heuston will wait the usual five days to give others a chance before challenging Keogh.

PAIGE BEATS SMALL

Honey Mellody is doing very well for his second time on earth. Honey ain't he is ready for them all the sooner the better.

* * *

Harry Pollock is planning a tour of the world for both Abe Attell and Stanley Ketchel. Harry wired Ketchel last night about an offer he had from England for a battle with Tom Thomas, the English middleweight champ, and is expecting a reply every minute.

* * *

Pollock is just the sort of a manager Ketchel needs. Steve never was much without a manager. When he had Willus Britt he had more money than any fighter in the land, and it is certain that if he goes with Pollock and his brand of ball the Boush will roll in again, as the latter is well posted on all the ins and outs, and is always as busy as a bird dog with his deals.

Tommy Quill, the Brockton aspirant for the welterweight title, has gone to Northampton to train for his go with Young Loughrey at the Armory A. A. Monday, on February 10. With him is Jack Dillon's second brother, Eddie Quill. In his quiet way Tommy said he was going to train hard and give Loughrey, whom he has met several times, a severe drubbing. If he succeeds in doing up the Philadelphia lad, he will go after all the top-notchers in his class.

BIG BROCKTON RACING MEET

BROCKTON, Feb. 3.—Young Bayard, the fast pacer owned by Charles Tyler of Whitman, has been sold to New York, and there is one person who is probably highly pleased at the departure of this famous racer, and he is Teddy Mahar of Whitman. Teddy and Tyler were ever at odds over their horses, and finally a race was fixed for the championship of Whitman.

Mahar's Teddie B. considered the finest piece of horseflesh in this vicinity, had been trained to the minute, and Whitman fans, Brockton horsemen, those from Weymouth and several from Boston had been eagerly anticipating this race. Mahar will not be allowed to take the title without a struggle, though, for Johnny Ford, with his Willie J., is out with a bold bid for Mahar, and Ted must accept or lose the title which seemed so soft to him.

Ed Hagan of Avon and Brockton, who has proven fast once on the farm, has a pair of steppers which he is willing to put against anything in the region for sulky spokes to $500. Included in his string are such classy pacers as household as King Direct, full brother to Peter Directum, a famous horse, and Virginia Charles, purchased by Hagan in New York a few years ago, and has won up everything in this section without letting out. This horse will probably be raced regularly next Summer, Mr. Hagan states.

H. C. Briggs, the new president of the Brockton Driving Club, trained Baden Powell, champ of the speedway, every day, and his pacing is no sapolio, and everything that comes along will holds good, he says. Three days a week Briggs slides from the weather is agreeable.

The plan of having a horse carnival during Merchants' Week in June is being discussed by the members of the local driving club and already several conferences have been held by the club officials and the merchants' committee in the matter. The idea is to have a parade of horses, followed by a racing meet on the speedway. The plan seems to hit the horsemen just right, and in all probability the event will take place.

501 ENTRIES NOW FOR B.A.A. GAMES

Manager George Brown of the B. A. A. yesterday received additional entries for the games on February 12. For the 40-yard dash there are already 133 entries, with the season a long ways from being over. That is the largest number of entries for any one event.

The New York A. C. has entered the following runners, from which it will pick its relay team: Henry Hissing, J. J. McGrath, Richmond, R. Price, R. H. T. Edwards and Carl Walther. In the 600-yard run Hissing, Walther and Price are entered.

Brown University sent twenty entries, but did not give the names of the runners who will form the relay team. Brown has entered four in the 1,000-yard race and three in the 600-yard. J. J. Frank will try in the shotput. There are several colleges and athletic associations yet to be heard from.

The entries now number 501.

GIANT PLAYERS GET UNDER COVER

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Pitcher Marquard, Catcher Schlei, infielders Tenney, Merkle and Outfielder Herzog signed with the New York National league club to-day. And were members of the team of last year. Marquard and Merkle are to go South with the first squad of the Mcgraw players; Schlei, Herzog and Tenney will go with the second squad.

President Lynch of the National League probably will issue a call for the annual spring meeting of his organization to-morrow. The meeting will be held here either on February 15 or 16.

GREEK WINS IN BIG MAT BOUT

The houseful of patrons at the Columbia Theatre last night knew what to expect by the announcement that Joe Rosel, "The Bohemian Bull," and Jim Parker, "The Terrible Greek," would meet on the mat, best two out of three falls, and there was no disappointment, for the contest was one of the liveliest seen at this theatre this season. Parker was the winner. The first bout went to Parker in seventeen minutes, the second to Rosel, in seven minutes, and the third to Parker in five minutes. Scores were turned away and frequently the excitement was intense.

BASEBALL NEWS NOTES

Frank Chance is said to be enthusiastic over Roy Miller, the young infielder obtained from the Pacific Coast League.

Veteran Bobby Lowe has been engaged to coach the Washington and Jefferson baseball candidates this Spring. He takes charge April 4.

* * *

President Lynch doesn't like gingery coaching. He says it gets the umpires in the air and is the cause of players who forget honesty being put out of the game.

* * *

McGraw thought that Hans Wagner was the most valuable man for a team, as he was a remarkable all-around batsman, a ran-getter always in the game, and, placed in the infield, full of inspiration.

* * *

Arthur McCabe, the leading hitter of the Connecticut League, with a .336 batting average on the New Britain club, will be given every chance to make good with the Cincinnati club this Spring.

* * *

Hugh Jennings figured that Ty Cobb was the most valuable man in the country to a team. "He is a remarkable all-around batsman, who can bat out bunts and then clean up the bases with a long drive, and the greatest run-getter of the day always in condition and a fighter from start to finish," said Hugh.

* * *

The Naps have signed a boy wonder. From the classrooms of the Northeast Manual Training School in Philadelphia to the Cleveland team of the American League is the astounding jump of Eric Erickson, a nineteen-year-old lad, with a phenomenal work with the stick attracted the attention of Nap Kennedy, the Nap scout, who signed the boy. Hitting can cover any position on the infield or outfield. Last year he had a batting average of .367.

SCHOOL MIDGETS IN B. C. RELAY RACES

The entries for the Boston College meet, which is sanctioned under the N. E. A. A. U., are being received by and with Manager William D. Murphy.

The meet will be held in the Boston College "Gym" on next Tuesday night, and a number of the fastest athletes in the country have already entered. A number of relay races have been arranged between the various clubs and high schools of Greater Boston, and there will be held on a special match relay race between the Boston College High School and those of Roxbury Latin.

GEORGE LEE SELLS YACHT MARIE L.

The Hollis Burgess Yacht Agency has sold the fast twenty-two-foot sloop yacht Marie L., owned by George Lee of Beaston, to a prominent member of the Boston Yacht Club, who will use her for racing and cruising next Summer in Eastern waters.

The same agency has also sold the twenty-one-foot raceabout Tuxipuxi, owned by Charles A. Cooley of Brookline, to Fred O. Fish of Manchester.

BOSTON AMERICANS DOUBLE

Our Civilization

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

OTHER people's poems are not often quoted in this column; but here is one by a gifted young American poet which opens a large range of thought.

It makes us realize as we read, how seldom any one of us says just what is in his mind. In these modern civilized days, when under the stress of strong feeling,

You are an artist, perhaps; and a picture of yours has been on exhibition; and you meet an acquaintance on the street who has to your certain knowledge said that your picture was the worst daub he ever saw. He stops you with a pleasant word of greeting; and you shake his hand and hope he is well, and perhaps you tell him how finely he is looking; and all the while you are thinking what a mean and malicious tongue he carries, and what a cad he is. Your impulse is to use a whip over his shoulders.

Perhaps you are an actor or an author; and owing to a tactless hostess you sit at dinner beside your most merciless critic; one who has ridiculed you where you feel you should have been praised.

You Control Yourself and Smile

And you smile in his face while you curb an inclination to throttle him.

Even more dramatic may be your situation. Perhaps you are a woman and you meet at dinner, or luncheon, or in a theatre box, the other woman you know has tried to entangle your lover or husband in a flirtation.

Do you express the sentiments of your heart to her?

No. Indeed; you compliment her appearance, and express your regret that you have not been able to give yourself the pleasure of calling on her recently.

Or you are a man, and meet the friend who has undue interest in your wife; and you sit at the club table, and order drinks and ask him to play bridge, instead of slamming his face.

Men "Mummers in a Play"

Here is the poem which describes any one of these situations cleverly:

THE CIVILIZED.

Our parting was in peace. Another day
Shall mark our courteous greeting—even as
Have we not learned that still the easier way
Is wiser far to go?
The times have made us what we are; we crowd
Beneath a placid brow a thought unbowed
Only to those untutored is allowed
The privilege of truth.
The generations that went quietly
Have left their mark upon us, and, in turn,
Our passions know that tame civility
Caged animals must learn.
Before one's host should he disturbed a lot
(So runs the code) we turn with easy
mien
To clasp the dank hand of Iscariot
Rather than make a scene.
And so to-day my hand touched yours the while
You knew what right it had; as well as I,
To dash from off your mouth its fawning smile
And brand and burn its lie.
'Tis well, no doubt, that careful training grips
The throat of honesty. Yet well you knew
Back of the civil greeting on my lips
The name that stifled you.
And so we part in peace to meet again
With gracious words—no doubt the wiser way.
Yet, once upon a time, the world bred men,
Not mummers in a play.

—THEODOSIA GARRISON.

But, after all, do we not prove ourselves to be BIGGER MEN AND WOMEN by just this power of self-control than were those cruder types—the people who fought, and clawed, and bit, and stabbed, and shot to prove that they were real men, not "mummers in a play?"

Self-control is a quality which the lower animals do not possess. It is one of the qualities which places man on a higher plane than the animal.

Count 100 Before You Strike

Civilized man has learned, by the experience of others, that nothing is gained, and much is lost, by expressing every emotion which dominates him. He has learned, too, from personal experience, that the emotion of to-day is not the emotion of to-morrow, and that it is well to "count one hundred" before he says what his anger would mutter.

He has, in truth, learned to REASON, and to use judgment and common sense, instead of giving way utterly to impulse.

The actor, and artist, and author have learned that by treating the critic with indifference or suitability, and by conserving their vital forces for BETTER WORK, they win his praise eventually; and this is a greater triumph than would be gained by slapping his face.

The woman has learned that she does not keep her lover, or win him back, by tearing the hair of her rival; but by being more amiable, sweeter and better bred than the other woman; and by ignoring the situation, she saves herself great humiliation, and runs the chance of coming out victor.

The Cruder Type Who Killed

The Man thinks of the cruder type of uncontrolled men who have killed their rivals and spent the remainder of their days in prison cells, realizing that the woman was not worth the penalty they are paying; he has learned, too, by observation and experience, that making a scene which bruits his suspicions abroad, does not restore a man's faith or his happiness.

So he satisfied himself with beating his rival at a game of bridge, and divorcing his wife. And he revenges himself by knowing the other man must live with her, and that the woman who has wringed one man will wrong another.

After all, is not the modern way the better way?

ADVICE TO LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

STUCK TO IT THREE YEARS

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-one and love a young man the same age. I have known him for three years. He has often told me he loved me and has asked me to marry, but I have never told him I loved him and told him I would think it over about getting married. Now he is cool to me and does not call as usual. Should I ask him what keeps him away or should I wait?

L. D. B.

IF the love making has been all done by him, you might tell him you want him to call when you see him. If he has told you of his love for three years without any assurance from you that you care for him in return, it is no wonder that he has grown tired. Let him know if you love him and if you don't, drop the affair entirely.

THREE OF A KIND

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am twenty-two years old and admire three girls exceedingly. I know I could marry any of them and be happy, because they are all exceptional. Now, I am on the point of asking that one to marry me who first impresses me that she really likes me. Do you think this is unwise?

UNEASY.

Cambridge.

UNEASY" is a good cognomen for you my son, and I hope that you are all of that. I most assuredly do think it would be unwise for you to decide your matrimonial affairs in such a manner. You don't love any one of them enough to marry. When you do care, one girl will fill your whole heart so that you won't even know whether other girls are "exceptional" or not.

ISN'T HIS WORD GOOD?

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a girl twenty-one years of age and have quite a few gentlemen friends who pay attentions occasionally. I have had two offers of marriage, but refused because I was not in love with either. Now there is one of my friends that I like very much. He pays me compliments at times and calls once in a while. I have heard, however, that he is engaged. I have asked him if this is true, and in a light-hearted manner he has always said that it isn't true. Now, what I want to know is shall I continue to invite him to call and treat him as before or shall I forget him entirely.

LOVEKNOTS.

CONSIDERING the fact that he insists he is not engaged I think it is perfectly proper for him to call on you, unless you know positively to the contrary.

TO-DAY'S BEST STORY

JOSEPH H. CHOATE, having arrived at the old-sighted age, did not recognize it, or did not wish to commence the use of glasses. In pleading a case he had difficulty in seeing his notes, and in order properly to decipher his manuscript, kept holding his paper farther and farther off. On one occasion while so engaged the judge that he at last burst out with:

"Mr. Choate, I would advise you to get one of two things, either a pair of tongs or a pair of spectacles."

HIS KIND.

He Style—You say he uses no judgment in buying presents?

Gushusta—No; he's the kind of fellow that would buy a pair of kid gloves for the Venus of Milo.

SECOND BEST

POEM BY JAMES J. MONTAGUE
ILLUSTRATION BY NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

"I took my poor old doll in my arms to-day an' stroked her tousled hair."

I KNOW how my old dollie felt when she first saw me hold
My Chris'mas doll, with big blue eyes and hair like truly gold;
I loved her such a awful lot before the new one came,
And after that I always meant to love her just the same.
I 'spose I hadn't ought to cared 'cause she was poorly dressed,
Or made her always feel that she was only second best.

For now my mamma ain't got time to talk or play with me;
She's differ'nt since that baby came from what she used to be.
She's nervous when I'm in the room, an' if I come too near
She says, "Be careful not to wake your little brother, dear!"
An' when the nurse has took him out my mamma has to rest,
An' never looks at me at all—I'm only second best.

I took my poor old doll to-day an' set her on a chair,
An' petted her an' dried her tears, an' stroked her tousled hair;
An' after this she's going to share in everything I do,
An' never have to sit an' cry because she ain't bran' new.
For, even if a child is old, it likes to be caressed,
An' tears come pretty easy when you're only second best.

A Lover's Calendar---By Beatrice Fairfax

HE proposed to her in July and she said she had not dreamed that so soon after her arrival in town she had liked him very much as a friend, but that she could never love him well enough to marry him. She hoped that this would not interfere with their friendship.

He smiled somewhat roefully and said he felt sure he hoped it would not.

He proposed to her in August and she said she was disappointed in him; that, after all, perhaps it was better that they see nothing of each other, since he could not enjoy a purely platonic friendship.

She added that Susie Wilkins was a charming girl and that she looked on him with eyes that were more than kindly. Didn't he think he could learn to love Susie?

He smiled cheerfully and said perhaps he could. Whereat she raised her eyebrows, smiled in faint sarcasm and said something about him being alike.

In September she met him at a tea and remarked that they never seemed to meet nowadays. He was usually at home between 4 and 6, she said casually.

She also said she could see that Susie was looking at him and wondering why he did not join her. She wouldn't detain him, for the world. Susie was looking a little faded, she thought.

He smiled and presently joined Susie, to whom he paid marked attention the rest of that afternoon.

The lady of his heart went home with a headache, and cried all night. She hated men; she would go into settlement work and live for other people and oh dear! oh dear! oh dear!

In October they did not meet at all.

Late in November they met in the foyer of a theatre and she smiled, a wan little smile, and in the depths of two-forget-me-not eyes there lay a wistful questioning that the young man's heart to thumping in the most unaccountable manner.

And the next day, being the first of December, a somewhat nervous but very masterful young man walked up the steps of a certain person's house, rang the bell, sent in his card and then waited ten long minutes in a fire-lit library.

And then a very subdued little lady slipped softly into the room, and then what did that masterful young man do?

Why, he just made half a dozen quick strides across the room and took that subdued little lady in his arms and—but that's enough for you and me and the general public.

The Storm in the Forest

THE poplars strain to the sky,
Shiver, and then are still;
Waiting the brown clods lie,
And the lake with its mirrored hill—
Slowly the wind, like a wounded deer,
Goes wandering by;
And the wild things fear.

Not a leaf in the thicket shakes;
Heavy the air and hot.
Each bird through the woodlands wakes,
Awaiting he knows not what.
Until, low murmuring, over all
The thunder breaks;
And the first drops fall

So silence then in the wood.
But soft foot scurrying home.
And a thrill through the pulsing blood
Proclaims that the storm has come.
While in echoing fury heaven hurls back
The earth's wild mood
Down the lightning's track.

And the moral of this tale is: Young men, do not be easily discouraged, slow of wit, or timid.

RUN DOWN

Inquisitive Stranger (to constable)—I understand that the measles broke out here recently.

Constable (proudly)—Yes; but our head constable caught 'em.

HUSBAND CATCHING BY FAT WOMEN.

Many a too plump lady is groaning in spirit, at this moment, as she toils back with a lollipop between finger and thumb, at the thought of her matrimonial chances.

She tells herself she can never give up her lolling and her lollipops and go in for exercising and dieting instead. Not even for a husband. Yet one glance over her bulging breasts, at her equally well developed hips, tells her all hope is vain unless she reduce.

Now, such girls are simply behind the times, or they would not worry about their reducing. They would reduce—and do it without disturbance of their appetite for candy or luxurious ease. All that is needed to take off twelve to sixteen ounces a day, and rapidly reduce the hips, chin, abdomen, etc. (where fat is most objectionable) is one pleasant, elegant Marmola Prescription Tablet, after meals and at bedtime.

Get the fat off where it jellies most and see what that change will do toward attracting the men. The tablets are not injurious in any way (being made after the famous Marmola Prescription—viz.: ½ oz. Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 8½ oz. Peppermint Water); and they are not expensive, the Marmola Co., 180 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., and all druggists asking only seventy-five cents for a large case.

Great Women of History

MADAME LAFAYETTE

By REV. THOMAS B. GREGORY

IT is generally understood that the modern novel dates from the publication of Richardson's "Pamela." In 1740, although there are a number of reputable critics who claim that "Pamela" was little more than the forerunner of the first real modern novel. Henry Fielding's "Joseph Andrews," given to the world in 1742, and soon after followed by the far more powerful "Tom Jones."

But right to the time of Richardson and Fielding there lingered over fiction the fading twilight of the romances of chivalry, which the work of these men was to dissipate forever.

Away back as far as history is able to take us in ancient Greece, Rome, Egypt and Persia we find that stories of human life were being told in tale and song when as yet man had not learned to write.

After the fall of the Roman Empire there came the tales of chivalry, which were followed by the "Italian Tales," of which the "Decameron" may serve as an example—short stories of love and warfare, without any particular plot.

But times change, and men change with them, and about the beginning of the seventeenth century people began to get tired of the old romance and mystery, as well as of the lighter kind of stuff that came from the Boccaccios, and insisted upon having the stories that should the more faithfully depict the life of real men and women.

The new demand on the part of the people naturally had its effect upon the writers, and about the year 1600 they began to deal less with "dragons" and "necromancers," "giants" and "enchanted castles," and more with the plain everyday facts of life.

Human character and natural scenery were taking the place of the supernaturalism that had long held the entire ground.

In a word, the real novel, as we know it to-day, was on its way to us, and it was as certain as fate that in due time the world would be going into rhapsodies over "Pamela" and "Tom Jones."

But, while doing full justice to Richardson and Fielding, we must not forget the fact that the honor of writing the very first modern novel belongs to another, one Mme. Lafayette, not the wife of the Lafayette who helped Washington win our independence, but the daughter of one Aymar de la Vergne, Governor of Havre de Grace.

In 1675, when in her thirtieth year, Mme. Lafayette wrote "The Princess of Cleves," a work which may fairly be set down as the earliest of the purely fictitious productions whose aim it is to bring about natural events by natural agencies, and which preserve curiosity without the help of wonder. In which human life is shown in its true colors, diversified only by the accidents which daily occur around us, and by the motives which are actually to be found in the actual human world about us.

It was Mme. Lafayette who first crossed the Rubicon and inaugurated the great revolution in the world of fiction.

Our Girls Most Beautiful

By WINIFRED BLACK

A boy stole $400 from his employer in Philadelphia the other day.

He said he did it to go to Paris and see the pretty girls. Poor, deluded youth.

I wonder where he got his idea of seeing pretty girls in Paris?

I have just come from Paris, and I'll tell you something:

I saw more pretty girls in one walk at Tremont and Boylston streets than I saw in all the two months that I spent looking for the raving beauties we read about in the French novels and the English illustrated papers.

English women would be pretty enough if they knew how to dress, and the French women know how to dress and can't be pretty anyway, so there you are.

The prettiest woman I saw in Europe was a Dutch girl who'd lived in America—waitress was out of hearing.

The next prettiest woman I saw in Europe was a little Irish girl, who sat in a tea shop drinking tea and eating quantities of bread and butter and marmalade and blushing every time the man with her looked at her.

She blushed most of the time.

She was so pretty, and so young, and so badly dressed, and so good, and so violet-eyed and rosy, that she made my head ache, and I had all I could do to keep from asking the man, who was buying the tea and the marmalade, what he was going to say to her when the long enough to know how to walk and what kind of a hat to wear, and in England long enough to have a rounder on and good hair, and in France long enough to understand the proper value of good gloves and the way to tie a veil.

WHEN you undertake to buy Campbell's Tomato Soup don't be side-tracked.

Campbell's is the only tomato soup that has such a fresh racy flavor and natural color. It is the only one that is so rich and smooth; and the only one that retains perfectly all the nourishing qualities of the choicest tomatoes.

There is no real substitute for Campbell's Tomato Soup

It contains no meat-product in any form.

The selected New Jersey tomatoes we use are ripened on the vines, and then put up immediately while in perfect condition. Our blending formula is distinctive. There is nothing else like it. And it is the envy of soup-makers everywhere. Our condensing process—exclusive with us—preserves the flavor and aroma and the tonic volatile acids of the natural tomato more perfectly than it can be done in any other way. And the contents of the can makes twice its volume of the most palatable and satisfying soup you ever tasted.

Insist on Campbell's and prove for yourself that we do not exaggerate.

If not altogether suited the grocer returns your money. The same with any Campbell's Soup. What could be fairer?

Try This for a Severe Cough.

Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add ½ pint of warm water and stir about 2 minutes. Put 2½ oz. of Pinex in a pint bottle and fill up with the Granulated Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. The taste is pleasant.

The prompt results from this simple home-made article will surprise you. It usually relieves the most deep-seated cough in 24 hours, and is a splendid household remedy for hoarseness, whooping cough, colds, croup, sore throat, bronchitis, etc.

The recipe above gives makes a full pint—enough for a large family a long time—and costs only 54 cents. It keeps perfectly, and is easily prepared in five minutes. Children take it willingly.

Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract. It is rich in all the well-known pine elements which are so healing to membranes.

None of the weaker pine preparations can compare with the real Pinex itself. All druggists have it, or will get it for you if requested.

Strained honey can be used instead of the syrup, and makes a very fine honey and pine tar cough syrup.

HORSE FEED MAKES EXPRESS RATES HIGH

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The increased cost of living for horses was cited as one of the reasons for nearly 10 per cent. advance in interstate express rates put in effect in Chicago. This contention was advanced by M. T. Bonner, superintendent of traffic of the United States Express Company, to the Illinois Public Utilities Commission today during the hearing of complaints of express companies by Chicago shippers.

The United States Might Edit and Publish a "Government Pharmacopoeia"

But Parcels Post Would Do More for Pure Drugs Than the Government Pharmacopoeia

Copyright, 1910, by American Journal Examiner

Mr. Coudrey has introduced into Congress a bill to amend the pure food and drug act. Mr. Coudrey wants the United States government to edit and publish a United States pharmacopoeia, giving national tests for purity and strength of all drugs and chemicals. The idea is to establish throughout the United States one standard of drugs and chemicals, and to compel all dealers to come up to the standard.

This bill would make it a criminal act to manufacture or sell a drug below the standard quality.

Perhaps the idea is a good one, although we do not want to indorse too suddenly and violently the suggestion that Uncle Sam go into this branch of the publishing business.

There should of course be tests of all medicines and drugs and drink and food sold to the public.

There should be prompt punishment for those that poison the public, punishment equally prompt for those that substitute trash for good products, that cheat in weight, measures, or otherwise.

It is a fact that drugs used in this country are largely adulterated; they are not what the labels call for.

And doubtless many a man has died because the prescription he swallowed was not the prescription that his doctor gave him.

One thing would help very much in the distribution of pure drugs, and that is THE PARCELS POST.

Everybody knows that among the drugs many deteriorate when kept for a long time.

At present the drugs are sent to the druggists throughout the country by the express companies and they charge a high rate for a package, big or little.

Therefore the druggist, when he pays the express company's charges, gets in a supply that will last. And as the small druggist has a chance to sell certain drugs only once a month or perhaps once a year, those drugs stay in his shop until they lose all value—and nevertheless they are sold. For they were BOUGHT to be sold.

If this country had a parcels post system the druggist, for two or three cents transportation charge, could renew his supply from time to time, always keeping on hand a small and fresh supply.

He could at least, if he choose, get the goods pure, by dealing with those that sell pure goods, after testing their honesty, and, thanks to the parcels post, he could renew his supply so often that it would not be necessary for drugs to stand on his shelves and lose their value.

This idea is suggested to those that worry about the drug question. It is a suggestion for doctors, who know very well that often, especially in small towns and villages, the prescription calling for a rare drug is something of a joke.

Justice Brewer and the Courts

A great judge, with a spotless record of thirty-five years, has just told how to make the courts of the country stronger in character and prompter in decisions.

David Josiah Brewer, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, goes on record for the principle that NOT MORE THAN ONE APPEAL SHOULD BE ALLOWED, AFTER THE TRIAL JUDGE—save in a case involving a distinct constitutional principle.

Judge Brewer's proposal to cut down appeals is made with full acceptance of its necessary implicatioas, to wit, the elimination of technicalities and the expansion of the discretion of judges.

His opinion seems to be that the fundamental cause of the lagging of legal processes and perversion of justice is the attempt that has been made in this country to avoid resting any great weight upon the personal character and intelligence of judges. In some States, as Judge Brewer says, the refinement of technical restrictions upon every motion of judicial common sense has reduced a judge to a status that is little more than that of "a moderator."

Judge Brewer advises us to cut out the technicalities that are supposed to protect us from the wrath of man—but do not—and to throw more weight upon the character of the judge.

He implies that the attempt to run a human society by rules and without the intervention of human beings is naturally a failure.

He says we must get judges "WHOSE CHARACTER AND LEARNING MEASURE UP TO THE HIGHEST STANDARD"—and then we should trust them to act reasonably.

Doubtless he would allow that we should have some easy-running political expedient—LIKE THE "RECALL"—to GET RID of judges that looked wise, but turned out foolish.

And why should they be—individual interest and initiative is the surest way to progress?

As soon as the beef boycott started up went the price of fish. Ah, me, the balance will never poise even!

Another result of the beef boycott is that we shall be eating next month steaks we should be eating to-day. Such is the power of cold storage.

A Word to Mr. Brown

And Another to Mr. Allen: Never Mind About the French Revolution, a Federal Tax on Incomes Is on the Way

It is very much to be regretted that gentlemen who go to the State House, to favor a Federal tax on incomes, should indulge at this time in talk about the "French Revolution." The American is in favor of a national tax on incomes. You have seen the income tax in the declaration of principles printed from time to time on this page.

When the Third Estate set out to establish certain rights for the great mass of the French people, its highest and fondest dreams did not exceed the liberties and privileges that belong to every American. When the average American attends to the duties of his citizenship, which, we are pleased to observe, he is almost beginning to do, we shall have an income tax in this country and many other desirable things as well. We shall have, for instance, the election of United States Senators by the people. Perhaps there will be a revolution, but it will be a peaceful revolution. There will be lots of oratory, but there will be no blood-letting.

All the twaddle at the State House this week, however, has not come from the floor of the committee room. We observe that the Hon. Dennis E. Farley, a paper manufacturer in the Hampshire County town of Erving, if we are not mistaken, has been asking a question. Senator Farley occasionally asks a witness if the witness wouldn't prefer to see an income tax collected in Massachusetts, for Massachusetts, instead of being sent to Washington.

Revision Downward

Senator Farley's committee is the Committee on Federal Relations. It has nothing to do with local taxation. Senator Farley ought to keep off the jurisdiction of the Committee on Taxation. Granting his right to ask a question, however, we are surprised that somebody hasn't asked Senator Farley what effect the collection of an income tax in Massachusetts could possibly have upon the outrageous tariff schedules about which the whole country is protesting?

A Federal tax on incomes would revise the tariff downward. We should have no need of the existing tariff schedules, or anything like them, for purposes of revenue. A Massachusetts tax on incomes might revise the tariff upward again. It might (we don't say it would, but it might) touch the pocketbook of some of our captains of industry.

Gentlemen who talk about the "French Revolution," and who furnish a probably hostile Committee with what may prove to be workable ammunition, forget that this question has been a vital one in the United States for the past fifteen years, at least. We are a patient people, but we get there eventually and we get there peacefully.

Mr. Olney's Warning

The income tax was written into the tariff bill of 1894, when the Democrats were in power under Cleveland. The tariff bill, by the way, became a law after the constitutional ten days without Mr. Cleveland's signature.

It was a citizen of Massachusetts who brought the alleged unconstitutionality of the income tax to the attention of the Supreme Court. The case is called Pollock versus The Farmers' Loan & Trust Company of New York. Mr. Pollock, the Massachusetts man, had invested $4,000 in the shares of the company. He represented that a majority of the directors meant to pay, before July 1, 1895, a tax of two per cent. on the net profits of the company for the previous year. The law provided for a tax on incomes, from whatever source derived, of two per cent. on the amount over and above $4,000.

The Supreme Court declared the tax unconstitutional so far as it was a tax on rents and on State and municipal securities. The court affirmed, by a big vote, the constitutionality of the rest of the law.

A distinguished citizen of this Commonwealth warned the Court not to overstep the bounds between the legislative and the judicial power. This was Richard Olney, then United States Attorney-General. What Mr. Olney said along this line is worth printing:

"I venture to suggest that all this laborious and erudite and formidable demonstration the was alluding to the appearance of Joseph H. Choate and others on the side of the appellant) must necessarily be without result on one distinct ground, in its essence, and in its last analysis, it is nothing but a call upon the judicial power of the government to supplant the political in the exercising of the taxing power; to substitute its discretion for that of Congress in respect of the subjects of taxation, and all the distinctions and discriminations by which taxation is sought to be equitably adjusted to the resources and capacities of the different classes of society. Such an effort, however weighitily supported, cannot, I am bound to believe, be successful.

Overstepped Bounds

"It is inevitably predestined to failure (the effort to have the Court declare the income tax law unconstitutional) unless this court shall, FOR THE FIRST TIME IN ITS HISTORY, OVERLOOK AND OVERSTEP THE BOUNDS WHICH SEPARATE THE JUDICIAL FROM THE LEGISLATIVE POWER — BOUNDS THE SCRUPULOUS OBSERVANCE OF WHICH IT HAS SO OFTEN DECLARED TO BE ABSOLUTELY ESSENTIAL TO THE INTEGRITY OF OUR CONSTITUTIONAL SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT."

The Supreme Court overstepped those bounds, to the great surprise of Mr. Olney, we have no doubt, and the law was declared unconstitutional. There was no "French Revolution" about it. The great mass of the American people continued to believe in an income tax. They set about amending the Constitution to suit their belief. This was the American way.

In March of last year, fourteen years after the Supreme Court decision, the Senate and House at Washington proposed to the States of the Union an amendment to the Constitution of the Union. This is the proposed Amendment:

Proposed Amendment

"Article XVI. The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without any regard to any census or enumeration."

When this amendment is ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States it will be a part of the Constitution. Congress may then pass an income tax law.

It is commonly said that twelve of the States can "kill" the proposed amendment. This is untrue. Twelve of them may put it to sleep, but the opponents of the tax must always have twelve Legislatures with them. They will never need less than twelve. One of the twelve States might vote "No" this year, however, and for twelve years hereafter, and then go to the "Yes" side. No State which votes Yes, on the other hand, can ever switch to the "No" side. The article is "proposed as an amendment to the Constitution," in the language of the resolution, and "WHEN RATIFIED by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, shall be valid to all intents and purposes as a part of the Constitution."

A Campaign Issue

The gentlemen in Mr. Lodge's Legislature on Beacon Hill (or is it Mr. Crane's? or Mr. Draper's ? this year) may reject the proposed amendment at this time. That, it seems to us, would offer the other camp a pretty good campaign issue for the coming Fall.

However, the interesting and encouraging fact is that the gentlemen down at Washington started the income tax on its way under the Constitution of the United States, by their resolution of Monday, the fifteenth day of March, last, and no power on earth can keep it out. It may not, and probably it will not, come this year, but IT IS COMING.

So our advice to Mr. Brown, for whom we continue to have great respect, and to Mr. G. W. Allen of East Bridgewater, is to stop talking about the "French Revolution" and hold fast to the Constitution.

"Pop, do ten mills make a cent?"
"That depends, my son. Unless they are in a trust they probably don't."

Popular Songs

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

When the Pollywogs Are Singing to Their Mates.

IN a quaint New Hampshire village, just beyond the city limits,
A country swain was walking with his queen;
His honest face was freckled like a bird's egg thickly speckled,
He was quite the homeliest jay you ever seen.
But a kind and loving heart beat beneath his celluloid collar
Which he cleaned with a damp handkerchief every day,
And when she asked that man to wed before the month of June
He cleared his throat and then did softly say:

CHORUS:

When the roses bloom again beside the free pond,
And the price of food has sunk to lower rates,
Then you need not have no fear, I will wed you, Lizzie dear,
When the pollywogs are singing to their mates.

II.

The sweet and trusting girl gave ear to what he had to say,
And sure enough he married her that June;
They were happy as two bees flitting through the forest trees,
And their life was brighter than the harvest moon.
Till alas! one fatal night he went to hear the pollywogs,
Fell in that frog pond, where he lost his breath.
Now the bride, poor little thing, hears them pollywogs all sing,
"Is serves him right, he ran away to sea."
